

THIS is written on the train, from San Francisco to Chicago. The next few letters will be written on the train, or in New York, followed by a few written on the steamboat Majestic, on the Atlantic, and the Pacific, and the months, by letters from Europe. The writer, during all that time, will know much less than his readers of contemporary American news, but it is hoped to make up for this by learning something about European situations, which are just now in one of the most interesting crisis in history. By reason of strictly "unofficial" connections at Geneva, the clearing of Germany's payments, and the hopes to be in a position to find out something, and to be free to tell them. How well these hopes can be realized, time will show.

TWO things the French politicians promise their people in connection with the American debt settlement. One is that nothing shall make France under foreign supervision. The other is a "transfer clause" like that given to Germany in the Dawes plan. Unfortunately, these two things are mutually exclusive. If you do either, you can not do the other. The "transfer clause" is a provision that if, after the Germans have collected the amount of a payment in Germany, and handed it over to the agent of the creditor nations, he finds he can not send it out of Germany without breaking the German exchange, he will, instead, invest it to the Allies' credit in Germany. It is a perfectly proper and businesslike arrangement. But it depends absolutely on foreign supervision of Germany's payments, and transfers. To apply it to France means either the same thing, or else an open agreement that if, at any time, the franc exchange goes down for any cause, the French government has merely to attribute it to debt payments to be exempt from paying at all. In the present condition of French exchange, that means nothing but forgiveness of the whole debt.

IF FRANCE wants a real transfer clause, there is no objection whatever. But this is what it means: First, France must establish the franc on a gold basis, at some fixed permanent valuation, and must balance its internal budget, so as to be able to maintain the franc at that valuation, without conditionally to make the exchange to America, a foreign nation, to carry out this policy, and we must be the judges when it has done so, and the watchers to see that it continues to do so. Then there must be stationed in France an American representative, to whom the French are obligated to make the agreed payments, in French francs of the agreed standard value, equivalent to the agreed number of dollars. This agent is to buy dollars with these francs, and transmit them to America. But if it turns out that, though the francs are still worth the dollars on the exchange, they would cease to be so by the very process of his buying dollars in such quantities, then, in his judgment he is, instead, to invest them, for the credit of the American government, in France.

BUT this arrangement, while good business and in exact line with the German arrangement, would be bad politics in France. French pride will not permit the only condition on which it could be carried out, and sound finance will not permit any other. If the transaction were business, as the German one is, it would be easy. Being also politics, it is unworkable.

"THE air must be left free for all," says the Omaha Bee, welcoming the situation produced by the deadlock in Congress over radio regulation, and the ruling of Attorney-General Sargent, accepted by Secretary Hoover, that this leaves nobody in authority to limit the use of wave lengths already occupied. This is a complete example of our favorite American sport of theorizing in the empty air, oblivious of facts. The fact is, of course, that if the air is free to everybody, it therefore becomes free to nobody. As well say that the streets must be free to everybody. They were once. But now, if you let everybody drive their machines down any street, whichever side, they please, and park it where and as long as they please, the street would become impassable and useless to everybody. The same is true of the air, with radio. Either some public authority must regulate the permissible wave lengths, and assign them to those who are to use them, or else the radio broadcasters must regulate themselves, by agreement. And the courts have already decided that if some one person chooses not to join in that agreement, and blots out others by usurping their wave lengths, there is no way to make him come into the organization. The regulation must be done by law, as long as there is one person who will not do it by agreement.

Boy Is Held for Killing Playmate

OAKLAND, July 27.—Awaiting action by juvenile court authorities, John Proto, 13, today was held in the Oakland detention house, accused of killing his 12-year-old playmate, John Padroni. The Proto boy stabbed his companion with a large pocket knife in the course of an argument over a pair of skates.

Flames Threaten Whole Community

TACOMA, Wn., July 27.—With the Tourist hotel already in ashes and an adjoining structure in flames, the town of Elbe, 40 miles from here, was threatened with destruction by fire today. The fire broke out in the hotel and gained such headway that the hotel was burned in less than an hour.

Deputies Vote Confidence in Poincare

APPROVAL IS GIVEN POLICY OF PREMIER

Deputies Instruct French Prime Minister to Proceed to Remedy Finances GETS MAJORITY OF 227

Head of Government Says Nation Is Eager to Pay Debts to Foreign Lands

(By United Press) PARIS, July 27.—Premier Raymond Poincare today obtained an overwhelming mandate from the chamber of deputies to proceed with the application of his remedies for the financial ills which have stricken the nation.

The chamber voted confidence in the government by a vote of 353 to 131—a majority of 227. The vote came after the chamber heard the government's ministerial declaration. In putting the question of confidence, Poincare demanded the adjournment of interpellations, which means that, for the first time in recent French history, something is likely to be accomplished without prolonged parliamentary discussion.

Wants to Pay Debts Poincare said France was anxious to pay her debts and announced that the cabinet was convinced of the possibility of rapid improvement of the financial situation. By a vote of 418 to 31, the chamber agreed to urgent consideration of the cabinet's financial projects. Communist uproar marred Poincare's first appearance as head of the new government.

Rapid improvement of the financial situation, the premier said, depends entirely on immediate and resolute collaboration of the government parliament. "We are submitting a bill to meet the present insufficiency of our resources compared with our charges. To avoid forever further risks of inflation, we propose to vote supplements to the indispensable receipts as well as the principal important incomes."

Will Increase Taxation Poincare said direct and indirect taxation would be increased. "We do not claim 'to be able to solve in a few weeks nor even in a few months,' the premier continued, "all the economic and financial problems caused by the almost universal illness."

"Let us immediately start the heavy task for the republic and for the mother country."

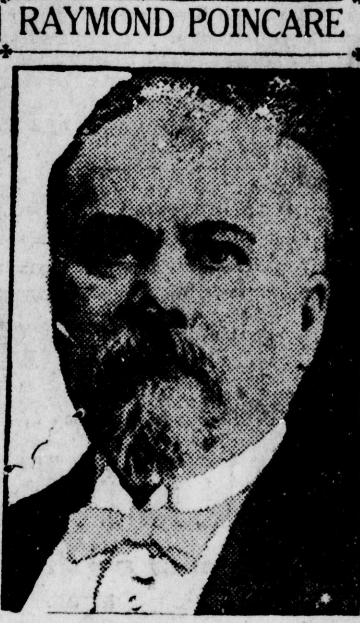

WITNESS TELLS OF ELECTION EXPENSE

CHICAGO, July 27.—Tales of large cash sums handled in the Illinois Republican primary were related today to the senate investigating committee by Roy O. West, secretary of the Republican National committee. After having charged that a bi-partisan conspiracy was entered by a Republican and a Democratic faction in Chicago, West revealed that he had received $30,000 from H. L. Green, campaign manager for Senator William B. McKinley. Of that sum, $25,000 was given to him in cash, he said. West was connected with the Deneen faction, which organized for McKinley, the incumbent, who was defeated by Frank L. Smith for the Republican senatorial nomination.

West's organization in all spent $155,615.70 during the campaign and now has unpaid bills of $3528.93, making a total expenditure of $159,144.63.

WOMAN PLUNGES 2 STORIES TO DEATH AFTER GAY PARTY

(By United Press) SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—Mrs. Ruth Osborn, 22, died today from injuries received in falling from the window of a second story room in a downtown apartment house, where a party was in progress. Mrs. Osborn is said to have had a husband, mother and 2-year-old son in Los Angeles. Unconscious, with her skull fractured, Mrs. Osborn was found lying in an alley beneath the apartment early today. She was clad only in a thin slip and one slipper. Police were notified by a bell boy of a nearby hotel. They questioned Mrs. Edna Larson, 23, divorcee, in whose

MEXICANS IN BIG RUSH FOR CHURCH RITES

Crowds Seek Baptism and Confirmation of Children Before Ban Is Effective ALL SECTS AFFECTED

Catholics Stand in Relief Because of Greater Numbers in Southern Nation

(By United Press) MEXICO CITY, Mex., July 27.—Throughout the length and breadth of Mexico today, the faithful of the Catholic church were gathering at cathedrals, churches or shrines, seeking baptism and confirmation for their infants or praying for divine aid in the greatest new world struggle between church and state.

All sects were amenable to the new religious decrees proclaimed by the government, but the Catholic church, because of its wide influence and millions of communicants, stood in sharp relief in opposition to the government. The last mass in Catholic Mexico will take place Friday and until then the baptisms of thousands of children and their confirmation, at the cathedral here, will continue. The latter, in accordance with the pastoral letter signed by the archbishops and bishops of the republic, the holy offices will be suspended in protest against the government's attitude toward religion.

Archbishops Banned or Confined Archbishops Mora and his assistants have been baptized or confirmed 96,000 children at the cathedral since July 10, and still the babies in arms arrive outside the cathedral doors to wait with their parents until early rites have expired. The first rite of the church, owing to heat and exposure, four babies died in the group of waiting parents yesterday.

The presidential decree, providing penalties for violation of the religious laws of Mexico, will become effective August 1, and it is in protest against this that the clergy has decided to suspend its functions.

The decree, which reforms the penal code, comprises 38 articles, and was signed by President Calles and Secretary of the Interior Teodoro Garcia.

Clause 1 of the decree, which is of especial interest to foreigners, provides that ministers of any creed must be Mexicans by birth. Infringement will be punishable by a $250 fine or 15 days' imprisonment, followed by expulsion from the country, as provided by Article 33 of the constitution.

Church Property to State The new law will effectuate the old constitutional provision that all church property belongs to the state.

Rum Committee Accepts Report

LONDON, July 27.—The British and American members of the committee, which has been discussing Anglo-American co-operation against rum runners, have approved the report of the joint sub-committee regarding ways and means. It was announced today. Lincoln C. Andrews, who headed the American delegation, issued a statement today saying that the subcommittee's report embodies eight recommendations, which would not be made public.

Fullerton Man Stabbed and Robbed in L. A.

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Albert Richman, 29, of 113 East Truslow street, Fullerton, was robbed by a negro bandit here early today and is reported in a precarious condition at the General hospital, suffering from several stab wounds. A two-inch knife blade was extracted from Richman's hip, where it had broken off. Police are looking for the negro, who is known as "Panama."

DATE FOR NEW PORT ELECTION MAY BE FIXED

BULLETIN The board of supervisors this afternoon voted to ask the harbor commission to make a report on the improvement of Orange County Harbor.

The vote was taken after a committee, headed by H. A. Lake, Harry Welch and others, presented a petition signed by 200 persons from all parts of the county.

Col. S. A. Finley refused to vote and Willard Smith, of Orange, voted against asking for a report. The other three commissioners, Schumacher, Talbert and Jeffrey, voted in favor of calling for the report.

There was a well defined sentiment in the courthouse today, where the county board of supervisors met for their regular weekly session, that today would see a date set for the balloting on the proposed issuance of $750,000 in county bonds with which to improve the entrance of Orange county harbor.

But, despite the well defined sentiment, no one would say a word for publication. In some quarters there was the assertion that the harbor bond election would be held after the primary election and before the first of the year, but those who held this view would not allow themselves to be quoted by the newspapers.

One definite fact stood out, which was that a committee of harbor enthusiasts will wait upon the board this afternoon and request that some action be taken upon the proposal for the election.

It was pointed out by Chairman Thomas Talbert that legal requirements would prevent the calling of the election simultaneously with the primary election, notwithstanding any desire which the board might have to bring that about.

Among the pro-harborites, the belief was expressed that the action on the harbor bond election would not be taken until late this afternoon, when all other matters have been swept off the official program of the day.

NEW FIGHT MADE TO SAVE SLAYER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—A new fight to save Isaac Wolfgang, Los Angeles "milk tapper," from the gallows opened in the state supreme court today, when Attorney B. D. Spagnoli filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The plea claims that Judge Victor R. McCluskey left the setting of the execution date to chance, having the court clerk draw one of several slips with Friday dates, rather than set the date himself. Wolfgang's execution is scheduled for September 10.

(By United Press) DALLAS, Tex., July 27.—Dan Moody, a 33-year-old lawyer who for two years has been attorney general of Texas, today apparently was the voice of voters to be the next governor of the state. The young attorney general, who has vigorously probed alleged waste in the state highway department, won the Democratic primaries in a sweeping fashion, eliminating Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson from the political field. The Democratic nomination in Texas is almost synonymous with election. While Moody failed to gain a

Authorities Believe Carmel Inquiry Will Clear Up Evangelist Mystery APPEALS TO ORMISTON

Mrs. McPherson Asks That Former Radio Operator Appear and Tell Truth

(By United Press) MONTEREY, Calif., July 27.—Capt. Herman Cline, of the Los Angeles detective bureau, arrived here today to assist Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan in completing what they believe to be the solution of the Aimee Semple McPherson disappearance mystery. After a short conference, the two officials went to Salinas to question Dennis Collins, garage attendant, who claimed to have seen Kenneth G. Ormiston, Mrs. McPherson's radio operator, 10 days after the disappearance of the evangelist at Ocean Park.

In the intervening 10 days, Ryan believes, Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson occupied a cottage at Carmel-by-the-Sea. Ormiston was known as "George E. McIntyre" and the woman with him, believed to have been Mrs. McPherson, was understood to be "Mrs. McIntyre," Ryan said.

Probe to Be Pressed The new investigation will not be dropped "until everything has been cleared up," the Los Angeles officials insisted. Mrs. McPherson's refusal to allow comparison of finger-prints found in the Carmel cabin with her own finger impressions, and her appeal to Ormiston to "tell the truth" will not affect future procedure. Ryan expected to soon complete a mass of evidence that, if proved, will "split the McPherson case wide open."

If borne out, it will shatter the Los Angeles evangelist's story of kidnapping and captivity and escape over the perilous desert to Agua Prieta, Mex., Ryan said. In an inspection of the cabin occupied by the "McIntyres" at Carmel, Ryan reported finding:

Finger-print on Book A closely defined finger-print on a book left by the late occupants. Other finger-prints on pepper cans in the kitchen. An apron and material, worn by the woman, closely resembling the cheap dress cloth Mrs. McPherson wore when she "returned" at Agua Prieta.

Six books on subjects considered of greatest significance. The books are a Potts Bible, "Unmasking Our Minds," (David Seabury); "History of France" (Jacques Bainville); "Science Remaking the World," (Caldwell and Stossun); "Why I Am a Christian," (Dr. Frank Crane), and "Pleasure Buyers," (Roche).

A radio set, with antenna remaining on the roof. Samples of the handwriting of both "McIntyre" and the woman. The man's writing is that of Ormiston and the woman's that of Mrs. McPherson, Ryan declared.

The signature "McIntyre," spelled with an "I"—or as "McIntire"—on notes left in the cabin, tending to prove the name fictitious. More Evidence Procured A dozen Carmel residents have given information adding to Ryan's mass of evidence, he said. Eight men and women identified photographs or Ormiston as those of the man who rented the Carmel cottage under the name of "McIntyre."

Four declared they were positive the man's companion was Mrs. McPherson. Ernest Renkert, coal wagon driver, who made a delivery to the "McIntyre" cabin, signed a statement to the effect that he was positive the woman who superintended

Lady Astor Missing

LONDON, July 27.—Lady Astor, the American born member of parliament, has disappeared from the political and social life of London and today her friends were puzzling over a two-line announcement published in The Times, which said: "Lady Astor has left England for three months; no correspondence will be forwarded."

The United Press understands that Lady Astor is en route to the United States with her children, but so far this has not been confirmed. Before leaving, Lady Astor enjoined her secretaries and staff of servants to the utmost secrecy, although she authorized her secretary to send the announcement to The Times.

"Her health is all right," the secretary told the United Press today, "but she is traveling incognito because she desires no publicity and does not want the name of her ship nor her probable movements to be known. There is no significance in such secrecy."

JACK DEMPSEY, TUNNEY TO BOX IN N. Y. RING

(By United Press) NEW YORK, July 27.—The New York boxing commission today, by a vote of two to one, approved a fight in New York September 16 between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for the heavyweight championship.

Chairman James A. Farley voted against approving the fight, but was overruled by the other two commissioners, William Muldoon and George F. Brower. Brower after the meeting announced that the commission would insist on 19,000 seats being made available at $2 each so the general public would not be barred by high priced admissions. Under New York law, the top price for ring-side seats will be limited to $25.

The way for the fight in this city has not been cleared entirely, however. The license committee must grant a permit and Farley, who has insisted stubbornly that Dempsey must fight Harry Wills, as prior challenger, if he fights in this state at all, has an ace in the hole there.

NEW YORK FIGHT SUITS DEMPSEY

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 27.—"That sure suits me fine," said Jack Dempsey when informed by the United Press that the New York boxing commission had voted to allow the Dempsey-Tunney match to be held in New York. "I much preferred to fight in New York," the champion said, "but it was up to Rickard and whatever he did was all right with me. "I will leave here the first of the month for New York, if that is where the fight is to be held," he said.

FIRE SPREADS TO NATIONAL FOREST

COULTERVILLE, Calif., July 27.—Brush fires in this vicinity, which already have caused approximately $250,000 damage, swept into the Stanislaus National forest today and are now threatening the heavy timber of this forest. A heavy wind offset the efforts of several hundred fire-fighters and the flames swept down on this city, destroying the Catholic church here. The remainder of the city was saved by brilliant work on the part of the volunteer fire-fighters. The buildings at three mines of the Merced Gold Mining company have been destroyed. Offices and machine shops at the Potosi, Mary Harrison and Molina mines were burned.

Fringe of Tropical Hurricane Sweeps Coast of Florida for Two Days

VESSELS IN DISTRESS

High Winds Cause Heavy Property Loss; Wires Down, Details Lacking

MIAMI, Fla., July 27.—Damage estimated at $50,000,000, is reported to have been done in Nassau and the Bahamas by the tropical hurricane.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 27.—Palm Beach and West Palm Beach have been completely isolated since the hurricane sweeping the east coast of Florida struck them with full force early today. The last report received here from the winter resort cities before the wires went down said a 70-mile gale was tearing over the district, uprooting trees, unroofing houses and threatening further damage.

(By United Press) MIAMI, Fla., July 27.—The high winds—fringe of a tropical hurricane—which have swept Miami for two days, had taken a toll of at least one life this afternoon. Discovery of an automobile washed into the ocean at Baker's haulover, north of Miami, led to the belief that one or more additional persons may have met death in an accident.

The known victim of the storm was Frank Lancaster, lineman for the Frank Lancaster and Light company, who was electrocuted while he was attempting to repair wires torn down by the force of the gale. Eight fishermen were unconfirmedly reported drowned when their boat sank between Miami and Palm Beach. Another unconfirmed report said 35 persons aboard two pleasure craft, bound for Bimini, are unaccounted for.

A catastrophe was narrowly averted when a barge, loaded with 400 cases of dynamite, broke from its moorings and was swept toward the county causeway connecting Miami and Miami Beach. Harbor workers and firemen recaptured the barge and anchored it safely in the center of the harbor.

Clyde Steamer in Peril The Clyde steamer Seminole, en route from Miami to New York with 181 passengers aboard, is directly in the path of the hurricane sweeping the east coast of Florida, reports received at the Clyde offices here today indicated.

At 11 a. m., the Seminole was off St. Augustine and the center of the storm area was between Miami and Jupiter, with the gale moving northwest. The east coast of southern Florida has been swept by the fringe of the hurricane, which is slowly moving northward. Wire service is crippled through the district and considerable property damage has been done in Miami.

High Seas Block Rescue Mounting seas are preventing rescue of the crew of 30 of the foundering Spanish ship Ansaldo San Giorgio Secondo, off Hillsboro light, according to a message to the Tropical Radio, received here at noon. The crew of the Ward Line Orizaba, enroute from New York to Havana, has been unable to get a line aboard the Spanish vessel.

An S.O.S. message was received by the Tropical Radio from an unidentified ship several miles north of Miami. The ship in distress said the gale had reached 100-mile-an-hour proportions and was accompanied by rain and hail.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY STORM REPORTED

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 27.—The east coast of southern Florida has been swept by a hurricane, which is slowly moving northward.

BURIED TEMPLE DISCOVERED AT CHICHEN ITZA

SLUTHS SEE SOLUTION OF AIMEE CASE

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 27.—Carnegie Institution excavators working at the site of the ancient Maya capital of Chichen Itza in Northeastern Yucatan, expected to complete the restoration of the "Temple of the Warriors" and the "Northwest Colonnade" before the rainy season set in when all work of the kind ceases. An unexpected discovery, however, one of surpassing interest to the archaeologist, caused a quick change to be made in plans, so announces Dr. Sylvanus M. Morley, director of the work, who has just reached the United States in his return from Yucatan.

Evidence of Temple.
It appears that while examining a column imbedded in a corner of the temple which supports the temple of the Warriors the excavators discovered evidence of an earlier temple which the pyramid builders had incorporated into the structure of the pyramid itself. Upon digging deeper into the pyramid mass it was found that the stone columns of this buried temple surprised feathered serpents decorated in vivid colors of red, yellow, green and black.

The tops and bottoms of the columns, representing, respectively, the heads and tails of the serpents, consisted of massive stones that had fallen from their original positions and lay buried under the floor of what formerly had been the northern end of the outer hall of the temple.

Further digging in the pyramid mass disclosed a side wall of the buried temple which was covered with mural paintings preserved, likewise, in almost their original condition.

More Than Half Acre.
During the 1926 season the excavators gave most attention to the Temple of Warriors, the excavation of which was begun the season before. This edifice, the most elaborately sculptured in the city, covers more than a half acre and the temple proper is 135 feet square at the base, and rises in four terraces or stages to a height of 38 feet.

Each terrace is nine feet high, and is composed of a sloping lower section (five and a half feet high) and a vertical cornice (three and a half feet high) embodying a sculptured frieze, which if extended along the horizontal would reach a quarter of a mile in length. It should be remembered that after Chichen Itza was abandoned, in the middle of the fifteenth century, and its buildings fell into disuse, slowly but surely the mighty Yucatan forest, held at bay by the unceasing efforts of man, began rapidly to encroach upon the city.

Destroyed By Nature.
At first a clump of grass on this terrace, a small bush growing from yonder wall, shortly, with no industrious hands to weed out these intruders, trees began to appear even upon the roofs. And so the destruction of the city went forward, not by the hand of man, but by the inexorable, relentless, ruthless arm of nature. Roofs began to collapse here and there, literally riven apart by the giant roots of giant trees. Sculptured panels, friezes, cornices, etc., soon suffered the same fate, nor did nature rest until she had reduced most of these great buildings to equally enormous mounds of fallen masonry.

The friezes around the pyramid of the Temple of the Warriors were thus torn apart and cast down. One of the principal tasks of the present season was the refitting together of these fallen sculptured fragments, and restoring them to their original positions in the terrace walls.

This work was like fitting together the pieces of a giant picture puzzle, but with this difference—the pieces instead of being bits of colored cardboard are great carved stones weighing fifty to seventy-five pounds apiece.

Fallen Facades Restored.
Another important work of repair during the present year has been the Temple of the Warriors proper, where the fallen facade elements have been restored to their original positions. These consisted of two decorative mask panels alternating with bird serpent panels, the serpent heads of the latter holding human heads in their mouths.

The largest bit of excavation carried on at the Temple of the Warriors this year was the digging out of the Northwest Colonnade passing in front of the pyramid which supports the temple. There were 56 square columns in this colonnade, each one sculptured on all four sides with the customary figures of rulers, priests, or warriors, the total aggregating 224 figures for this one colonnade alone.

The most important feature of this colonnade, brought to light by the shovels in 1925, was the discovery of two platforms, or thrones, built against its back wall. Both are 16 feet long, 12 feet wide, and three feet high, and each is reached by a stairway of four stone steps.

Carving Brilliantly Painted.
The southern throne is elaborately sculptured with a cornice composed of interlacing rattlesnakes and a sloping lower section with a procession of warriors. As usual in the case of Maya sculpture, the carving is brilliantly painted. Two or three yards in front of the throne is a small altar, a single block of stone cut in the shape of a truncated pyramid. The northern throne was plain. It had been covered with stucco and was painted a rich deep red.

delivery of a load of fuel was Mrs. McPherson.

He signed the statement after Ryan, drawing him into conversation, showed a photograph of Mrs. McPherson.

"Yes, that's the woman," Renkert said.

Thinks They Went to Oakland.
After spending 10 days at Carmel, Ryan believes, Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson went to Salinas, later to Oakland.

His investigation, after his work at Salinas is concluded, will lead to a garage and a hotel in Oakland.

He hopes to obtain evidence which will show that the couple separated several days later, Ormiston hurrying to New York, and Mrs. McPherson going to Agua Prieta for her "disappearance."

She came to Monterey on advice of District Attorney Asa Keyes, with whom Ryan was in telephone consultation. Keyes announced that he was unable to take part in the investigation at present.

Ryan plans to return to Los Angeles with completion of his investigation and present all his new evidence to the Los Angeles county grand jury.

AIMEE'S FINGER-PRINTS REFUSED AUTHORITIES.

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Roland R. Woolley, attorney for Aimee Semple McPherson, told the United Press today that he would not permit authorities to take fingerprints of the evangelist and that he would not submit specimens of Mrs. McPherson's handwriting for comparison with any evidence in the case uncovered at Carmel.

"We do not think it necessary for Mrs. McPherson to submit to such a thing, and she will not be allowed to do so," Woolley said.

"An appeal has been issued for Kenneth G. Ormiston to return—not to clear Mrs. McPherson's name, but to prove this new Monterey evidence is false."

Calls Developments Hoax.
Woolley branded the new developments in the case as "an extremely well planned and premeditated hoax."

"The reported developments in the north amount to nothing and will fall through, just as all other evidence tending to break down Mrs. McPherson's story has done," Woolley said.

Mrs. McPherson today issued a statement to the press, addressed to Kenneth G. Ormiston, appealing to the former radio operator of Angeles temple to make known the facts of his actions during the time the evangelist claims she was held captive by kidnappers.

Appeal to Ormiston.
The statement follows:
"July 27, 1926.
"An appeal to Kenneth G. Ormiston—

"If this should reach you anywhere in the world, will you come forward in the interest of justice and make known the facts of your actions and whereabouts during the time elapsing between May 18 and June 22 of this year?"

"You came to us a stranger, recommended by your services at Radio KJH. We endeavored to be fair and show Christian consideration to yourself and your wife when you were in trouble. We still want to be fair and believe in you both."

"Since May 18, when I was forced by taken from my home, children and work, your name has been constantly before the public in an endeavor to link it with the case and an attempt to dishonor my name and work thereby."

Unknown Mystery Woman.
"Many believe you were a party to the kidnapping plot, and received large sums of money being paid to drive around the country and to be seen here and there with an unknown woman whose part in the transaction it was to act mysteriously, wear veils and goggles, and act in such a secretive manner as would draw inevitable attention to you both."

"Ever since my release from captivity and return to my people, I have been embarrassed by persons who have been mistaken for me. These persons have later come in and, by revealing their identity and relating the circumstances, the matter has been cleared."

"Your seeming connection, however, is the one factor yet to be straightened out. It would seem that any true man, who knew the diabolical attempts to assassinate my name and great story, would come out with a clear statement to our office. Will you do this?"

(Signed) "Aimee Semple McPherson."

Kidnaping Is Re-enacted.
With seven members of the church acting as "devils," in "Satan's convention," with the "fiend of hell" casting a glow over the interior of Angeles temple, Aimee Semple McPherson re-enacted for her congregation at last night's services what she claimed was the true story of her alleged abduction by kidnappers.

The seven "devils" appeared from craters constructed on the platform to "hold a convention with the destruction of Angeles temple and its pastor as its chief aim."

"The devil has laid a deep and dangerous plot to wreck a poor little woman," Mrs. McPherson said. "They thought by striking at this little woman and the future of this marvelous temple, constructed by the Lord's money, that they could wreck a work that is destined to endure the world."

"Sometimes I think that it was made easy for me to escape from my captors, so that all of this slander about me being seen here, there, and everywhere could be circulated."

An overflow crowd of more than 5000 persons jammed the streets in the vicinity of the temple to listen to Mrs. McPherson's sermon through loud speakers which recently were installed.

Nothing State Can Do.
Even if it is proved that Kenneth G. Ormiston was the man who rented a bungalow at Carmel and

MRS. BROOKS AND PRESSON HURL BROADSIDES AT EACH OTHER IN CANINE QUARREL

The fight against the dog vaccination ordinance in Orange county was continued today before the board of supervisors, with Mrs. Barbara Brooks, of Santa Ana, leading the assault and Dr. V. G. Presson, Orange county health officer, directing the defense.

The supervisors announced that the ordinance would be taken up this afternoon and that certain revisions, as suggested by Mrs. Brooks at the last meeting, would be made. At the same time, the supervisors refused to repeal the ordinance, as demanded by Mrs. Brooks.

"This thing affects all the people and political punishment will be meted out to those who have put this law on our books," Mrs. Brooks warned. "Public opinion is about to be reflected upon this law." She read a clipping from Edgewood, N. J., to the effect that a similar law there had been repealed and that the public officials, who had supported it, had been defeated at the primaries.

Thomas Talbert, chairman of the board, said that it was his belief that after what he described as the "present trouble" is cleared up, that the ordinance might be repealed, but this semi-promise failed to appease Mrs. Brooks.

No Dog Fatalities.
Dr. V. G. Presson, who staunchly defended the ordinance, admitted under questioning by Mrs. Brooks that so far no fatality from hydrophobia had been reported in Orange county from the "present trouble." Mrs. Brooks offered to bet the doctor that if he divided the brain of a dog into eight pieces and submitted each piece to the laboratory, a different report would be made in each instance, whereas the brain had been taken from the same animal.

Dr. Presson said he didn't have $500 to bet.

Mrs. Brooks also insisted that since all warm blooded animals are susceptible to rabies, the requirements regarding vaccination should not be drawn at the dogs, but that skunks, cats, horses and cows should be included.

Chairman Talbert agreed with Mrs. Brooks that the veterinarians of the county might possibly be kept busy vaccinating the skunks alone.

Work of Medical Trust.
H. H. Hale, of Placentia, called upon to air his views, shouted that the whole vaccination propaganda was the work of the medical trust, which "had the United States by the throat."

"Why I know a woman who had her arm vaccinated, and she has lost the use of her arm and tuberculosis has set in," he insisted.

"Goodbye now, but I'm not through scuffling yet."

Dr. Presson pointed out that the same law, as enacted by the county concerning the vaccination of dogs, has been enacted in the cities of Seal Beach, Brea and La Habra.

The battle, which was about on even terms when noon came, was steadily carried on later in the afternoon, when the "mutt" ordinance came up for amendment.

COURT MAY SETTLE SCHOOL BONDS CASE

A legal tangle, involving the designation of the fund into which a $14,000 premium paid on the $20,000 union high school bonds of the Brea-Olinda school district, may be taken to the courts for settlement, was indicated today by the board of supervisors, which considered the matter at the behest of Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin and County Auditor William Jerome, the "friendly" contesting parties.

Wetlin claims that the statute specifies that the premium should go into the building fund. Jerome says he has law to back up his contention that it should go into the interest and sinking fund. Wetlin has prepared a friendly suit against Jerome to compel him to release the funds into the building fund.

The supervisors took under advisement, until this afternoon, the matter of appointing an attorney to represent Jerome and the county treasurer, who is the custodian of the bond money.

That Aimee Semple McPherson was the woman who accompanied him, there is nothing the state can do about it, District Attorney Asa Keyes admitted at noon today.

"Until Deputy District Attorney Ryan returns and makes a full report to me, there is nothing I can do in the matter," Keyes said.

"Even if it is proved beyond a shadow of doubt that Kenneth G. Ormiston was the man at Carmel and Mrs. McPherson the 'woman in goggles,' there is nothing, according to the laws of this county, that can be done about it."

In two Irish counties, Fermanagh and Tyrone, the men outnumber the women by 6000.

UPLAND YOUTH KILLS SELF AT LAGUNA BEACH

Choosing the most picturesque spot on the Orange county coast line, Willard Brownson, 20, son of W. W. Brownson, wealthy Upland rancher, fired a shot into his right temple at 1 o'clock this afternoon, at Woods' Point, Laguna Beach.

The body fell 35 feet into the water below. Miss Gladys Evans, Laguna visitor, heard the shot and notified Bob Harper, son of a Laguna apartment house owner. Brownson was dead when examined by Harper.

The father could advance no reason for his son's act. The young man attended a dance last night and apparently was in the best of health. He had remarked on several occasions that he was supremely happy.

The body was brought to Santa Ana by the Smith and Tuthill ambulance.

VETERAN IS FOUND INSANE BY JURY

Paul Tucker, Santa Ana ex-serviceman, was found insane by the jury in department No. 1 of the Orange county superior court yesterday and he is to be sent to Norwalk, according to Judge Z. B. West. Major Wellington, counsel for Tucker, stated that the ex-serviceman would be transferred from the Norwalk state hospital to the veterans' hospital in Compton, as soon as a vacancy is found.

Cleaners' Strike In L. A. Settled

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—The strike of employees of 72 cleaning and dyeing establishments, which has been in progress here for a week, was settled today, both sides claiming victory.

The plant owners granted an average increase to workers of from 20 to 25 per cent, and a 44-hour week, it was announced. The statement of plant owners that the open shop will still prevail was refuted by the employees, who say the union and the closed shop have both been recognized.

A noon storm warning, broadcast from Arlington by the navy department for the weather bureau, said the storm, still moving slowly northward, was centered at that hour near Palm Beach, Fla.

Fear was expressed for the yacht Clanchar, with several Miamians aboard, which was due in yesterday from the Bahamas, but had not appeared up to last night. At that time, the wind velocity was reported 80 miles an hour, with the city apprehensive over the growing intensity of the storm.

The passenger steamer Seminole had asked for and been given weather reports before noon yesterday from Miami and had been advised to put into Jacksonville. Clyde line officials believed, despite absence of word, that the vessel had escaped the storm area.

STORM WARNING ISSUED BY NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 27.—A north-west storm warning was issued today by the U. S. weather bureau here. The disturbance was described as part of the tropical storm already sweeping the Florida coast north of Titusville, Fla. No vessel reports have been received from the vicinity of the storm center.

DAMAGE IN PORTO RICO 10 MILLIONS.
PONCE, Porto Rico, July 27.—Damage caused by the hurricane, which swept the southern coast of Porto Rico Friday probably will reach $10,000,000 when full destruction of the storm is known.

Trees and telegraph poles were uprooted, houses were overturned and rivers, which formerly were small streams, became roaring torrents overnight.

Many were left homeless throughout the district, having lost all their belongings. It is believed that 11 persons were drowned at Ponce, Guayama and other small coastal towns.

State Takes Over Tri-County Road

BAKERSFIELD, July 27.—Announcement was made today by James I. Waggy, chairman of the Kern county board of supervisors, that the state has accepted the recently constructed Maricopa-Santa Maria highway. The road was constructed by Kern, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties, but now will be maintained by the state, Waggy said.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Once you realized in the careless freedom of childhood and could do what you wanted to do.
Now you exercise the mighty liberty of one who does what he has to do with a fine spirit of allegiance to God and dear ones and country.
You would have chosen otherwise of course; who would not?
But the splendid way in which you are shouldering your burden with a determination to "carry on" is an inspiration to all the rest of us.

Mystery Shrouds
Death of Woman

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Mystery surrounds the death of Helga Straight, recluse, whose body was found today by neighbors in the shack where she lived near Sandberg, on the Ridge route.

According to Captain William J.
Bright, of the sheriff's homicide squad, the body was lying at the foot of a stairway, under a bench, with a hole in the skull.

Bright is trying to determine whether the woman met accidental death or was murdered.

bers of the union labor are willing to withdraw demands for raises in pay. The question of the American plan, or open shop, in Fresno, also will be discussed again, labor leaders said.

Court Notes

Ready for Jury
The case brought by Herman Riecher, of Los Angeles, against Roy McDonald and Fritz Zeibarth, of Long Beach, to collect $10,000 for personal injuries growing out of an automobile collision at Claudina street and Broadway, Anaheim, February 18, 1926, was to go to a jury in Judge E. J. Marks' division of the Orange county superior court, following trial, beginning Monday morning. Mitchell, Silber-verg and Davis were counsel for the plaintiffs and Joe Cryder, Los Angeles, and Frank Drumm, of Santa Ana, represented the defense. Taking of evidence was concluded shortly before noon.

Recorder E. W. Stark's court in Anaheim, this morning, on a charge of possession of liquor, was taken into custody, following the trial, on a similar charge, by
T. K. Winter, chief of police of Fullerton.

Volz was arrested by Anaheim officers a few days ago and was alleged to have had six pints of liquor in his possession. Following the arrest of Volz, Fullerton police raided his home, at 232
Jacaranda place, Fullerton, and found it is alleged, five pints of liquor.

The date for his appearance on the Fullerton charge has not been set.

Jury Continues
Shooting Probe

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 27.
—While two church factions of Fort Worth speculated on whom the "mystery witness" in the case is and what his testimony might be, the grand jury investigating the shooting of D. E. Chipps, lumberman, by Dr. J. Frank Norris, July 17, resumed its sessions today.

It was expected the secret witness would be called today.
It also was indicated that J. J.
Mickle, publicity director of the First Baptist church and spokesman for Norris, would be called before the jury men to tell what he knows of the "diabolical plot" to kill the pastor as he had charged in statements.

STRANGLER TO LEAVE NIPPON
JAIL AS HERO

TOKIO, July 27.—Captain Amakasu, who has been serving a 10-year prison sentence for the murder of Sakae Osugi, Japanese Socialist; his wife and his little nephew, in the period that followed the earthquake of September 1, 1923, is to be released after but two and one-half years of his term.

Amakasu was in charge of the Gendarmier corps in Tokio during that fortnight of horror following the great quake, when radical plots and rumors of plots menaced the safety of any Korean or Japanese of Socialist tendencies who were unfortunate enough to be residing in the burned capital.

About two weeks after the quake,
Captain Amakasu, who apparently was laboring under the popular delusion that the Japanese radicals were plotting to seize the reins of government, ordered the arrest of Osugi, his wife and his child nephew. The prisoners were locked in separate cells.

A few evenings later Captain Amakasu decided to take the law into his own hands, and in company with two gendarmes entered the cell of Osugi and strangled him by means of a jiu-jitsu hold. He next entered the cell of the Social-of questioning killed her in a similar manner. He completed his triple homicide by strangling Osugi's small nephew.

Amakasu was sentenced to 10 years in prison, but in February,

After serving but one-third of the shortened period he is to be freed for good behavior at the request of the governor of the prison.

A Marvelous Health Drink

Do you know that most of the human ills are either directly or indirectly due to intestinal disorders?

But did you know that science has found that the acidophilus elements contained in A-dof-lus—a delicious health drink—when taken regularly will relieve chronic constipation, high blood pressure, rheumatism and other disorders of intestinal origin?

This is not a new idea. It has long been known to medical science that acidophilus milk is a sort of "fountain of youth", but heretofore the price has been too high for general use. Now it is in reach of all.

Buy a quart each day and then you will know why the doctors recommend it. Delivered to your home, 20c a quart. At fountains and lunch counters, 10c a glass.

SHAME SUICIDE TRIAL STARTS IN TIA JUANA

TIA JUANA, Mex., July 27.—Still cowed by the sting of notoriety from the tragedy which threw this border village on the front pages throughout the United States last February, Tia Juana today was to see four of its citizens on trial in connection with the "shame suicides" of the entire family of Thomas M. Petzet.

Zamado Llanos, former police chief of the border resort; Luis Amador, proprietor of the Oakland bar; Francisco Gonzales, former policeman, and Refugio Alvarez, barkeeper, were the four to face trial, scheduled to open at 10 a. m.

Llanos and Amador are charged with attacks on Audrey and Clyde Petzet, which led the two girls and their father and mother to take their own lives after returning to San Diego from a several days' visit to the resort. Gonzales and Alvarez are charged jointly with concealing knowledge of the crime.

Carpenters Finish Work

Carpenters were putting finishing touches on the temporary courtroom in the Salon de Sesiones de la Sociedad Mutualista de Zaragoza.

The trial will be private, except for newspaper correspondents and American and Mexican officials.

The empanelling of a nine-man jury will begin immediately. Judge S. Urias, presiding jurist of Baja, Calif., announced. Seven jurors are empowered, under Mexican law, to return a verdict.

Carlos Linares, prosecuting attorney for Lower California, will represent the Mexican government and Juan Uribe will head the defense counsel.

Saloon Men Complain
Although saloon proprietors and entertainers complained that their revenues for several months following the investigation of the Petzet case and subsequent Washington order closing the border at 6 p. m., showed a decided slump, opinions differ as to whether "business" has regained normalcy. The majority of Tia Juaneños, however, still contend that the crowds of American pleasure seekers and tourists are not as large as those that visited the resort in former years.

The building in which the trial will be held is a huge barn-like structure, nearly a mile from the long line of saloons. The hall ordinarily is used by a fraternal society. At the front is a stage and footlights. Below, desks have been arranged for the court and attorneys.

ALLEGED BURGLAR HELD TO ANSWER
Alexander Green, who was arrested in the Jack Porter home in Orange one night last week, was bound over to the superior court when he appeared in Judge G. W. Ingles' court, in Orange, this morning.

He is charged with burglary. His bail was set at $500. Green's arrest came about when neighbors saw someone lighting matches in the Porter home.

Euliterio Arango, of Olive, was bound over to the superior court on a charge of non-support, filed by Ramona Valadez. Upon Arango's promise to pay $5 a week toward the support of the Valadez woman, he was released pending trial.

Court Notes
Wife Asks Divorce
Evelyn Childs, Santa Ana stenographer, who married Hugh Childs, carpenter, in Riverside, February 20, this year, today filed suit in the superior court for divorce. She charges her husband with refusing to support her and inflicting mental cruelties upon her. The complaint was filed through Attorney Roland Thompson.

The preliminary hearing of Fred C. Roegge, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses through the sale of a certain patented brand of solid tires, was continued to August 11, by Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison today. The complaint was filed by L. L. Cole, of Santa Ana. The continuance was granted because of the fact that Deputy District Attorney Kenneth Burns, who handled the previous legal steps in the case for the people, was absent from court on his vacation.

Police News
Dan Adams, assistant chief criminal deputy sheriff, returned here last night from Texas, where he has been for the past two weeks visiting friends and relatives.

George Chesley, 45, charged with being drunk, was arrested last night by Officers Knight and Fink. He is being held in the county jail.

PRIEST BLAMES DERANGED MIND FOR HIS ARREST ON PATTERSON MURDER CHARGE

Declaring that he was dumfounded at his arrest on a charge of murder, the Rev. Philip A. Goodwin, actor and priest, being held in New York City for Santa Ana officers, who are hurrying east to return the man here for trial, yesterday made his first statement since arrest, according to word received here.

"I am dumfounded by the arrest. It's like a bombshell to me. I never murdered anybody. I believe it to be the deranged mind of some felon I befriended in the Los Angeles jail. You know I was chaplain in that jail and there came in contact with many prisoners. When they were released, some of them came to my home, where I would take them over with money or give them a chance to get on their feet," the actor priest said.

Says He's War Veteran

Goodwin declared he was a graduate of McGill university, in Canada, and that he fought overseas with the Canadian forces in the World war. He claimed to have been shot and gassed in a battle in Belgium.

While waiting to be brought back to Santa Ana on the charge of murdering Joseph J. Patterson, Los Angeles bond broker, whose partially burned body was found in the Santa Ana canyon on March 22 and identified by the dead man's brother here several days ago, Goodwin refuses to talk with reporters, it was said. Although several have attempted to interview him, he has refused to discuss the case other than what he said yesterday, it was asserted.

With extradition papers completed and signed by Gov. Friend Richardson, Orla Moncrief, Orange county chief jailer, and Deputy Sheriff D. T. Davidson, Los Angeles county, today were enroute to New York to return the prisoner here for trial.

Incomplete papers forced a delay in the start of the officers to New York and Moncrief, who left here last Friday for Sacramento, was forced to return Saturday night without the signature of the state executive. He, with Sheriff Sam Jernigan, Deputy District Attorney C. N. Moxley, L. E. Patterson, brother of the murdered man, and other deputies returned to Sacramento Sunday in another attempt to have the papers signed.

Papers Are Approved
A telegram, received here yesterday, was to the effect that the papers were approved and signed and that Moncrief and Davidson were on their way east.

Sheriff Jernigan and party, via automobile, are expected to return here today from Sacramento.

When arrested in New York, it was reported that police found a Masonic pin in one of Goodwin's pockets. He claimed that the pin was the property of Earl Ford, husband of Alice Ford, actress. Today, the sheriff's office learned that Goodwin had such a pin when he left Los Angeles, officers here said. Patterson also was in possession of such a pin at the time he was murdered, it was said.

L. E. Patterson, brother of the murdered man said that he could identify his brother's pin.

SAN DIEGO — Plans for the erection of the 14-story Medical-Dental building, one of the finest professional office structures in the state, at the southwest corner of Third and A street, on the Academy of Our Lady of Peace site, at a cost of $1,000,000, was announced by Charles O. Richards, president of the San Diego Medical-Dental building corporation. The building was to have been erected at Eleventh and C streets, but the new site was purchased last week, according to Richards. The former convent building is being torn down and it is expected that construction of the new building will be started within a few weeks. The building will occupy a site 100 by 100 feet and adjoining the structure will be a modern garage 100 by 100 feet, which is included in the mission dollar project.

CALIFORNIA — This district class the lead over all other California cotton growing districts for early maturity of its crop. Fifty bales were ginned during the past week, 32 of these being for William Young, one of the largest growers in the north end. Both local gins expect to be operating regular shifts in the future and it is predicted that 1000 bales will be turned out before the end of August. More than 250 pickers are now working in the fields.

SAN BERNARDINO—Establishing the week as one of the most active this year, building permits representing $168,093 were issued last week by the municipal building department. This brought July's total to $340,013, the third largest July total in the history of the city and next to the greatest month so far this year. Building Inspector H. G. Hansen sees little possibility of July's mark exceeding those of the same month in 1924 and 1925, when July passed $400,000. Six more business days remain in this month, but these will not be quite sufficient, Mr. Hansen believes, to bring July to more than $491,535, which is necessary if this month establishes a new all-time July record.

HUNTINGTON PARK—Temporary directors of the new City National bank, which is being organized here, have purchased the building formerly used as the Women's clubhouse at 222 South Pacific boulevard, as the location on which to erect the new bank building. RADIO PROGRAM HEARD WITHOUT RECEIVING SET WICHITA, Kans., July 27.—A few months ago, Gus Saur was a hard working Wichita druggist, well and favorably known by many in his home city, but without a considerable acquaintance outside. Now he gets scores of letters from all sections of the country every day, his name is appearing in publications scattered throughout the country and visitors come to his door from afar.

It is all because of a mystery in the Saur home. One day during the Christmas holidays of 1925, he and Mrs. Saur were sitting in the house when they heard music. It seemed to come from nowhere, yet it was clear and loud. They couldn't understand how it could get in, because all the windows and doors were closed. But going to the porch they listened for music somewhere in the neighborhood. The music stopped.

Hear Radio Announcer
Mystified, they went back into the house and the music started again. Then at the end of a selection they heard the announcement of a radio broadcasting station in New Orleans. That clearing of the mystery of the source of the music, but the biggest mystery still remains. The Saurers have no radio receiving set in their home and how the sounds are reproduced is a problem that so far has stumped the radio experts of America.

News of the phenomenon was broadcast and reporters began arriving at the Saur home. Men calling themselves radio experts came. Most of them had theories, which, when tested, fell flat. One man frankly confessed that he didn't know how the sounds were reproduced, but said if he did it would "worth a million dollars" to him. Representatives of scientific publications called, but went away leaving no light.

Can't Answer All Letters
Mr. and Mrs. Saur made no attempt to answer their voluminous correspondence. It would take a secretary to do it, they say. All manner of foolish questions are asked and every article in the house has been mentioned as being responsible for the mystery. Several large publications have devoted considerable space to the Wichita radio mystery.

Mr. Saur is doing some investigating on his own hook. Neighboring radio sets have nothing to do with the case, because programs heard in the Saur home are not the same as those the neighbors get on their sets. When the doors and windows are closed the programs are heard, but when they are opened the sounds stop. Mr. Saur has moved every article of furniture about and it makes no difference. Disconnecting the telephone and electric light system will not stop the sounds.

Once Mr. Saur left all water faucets open except one and opening and closing that seemed to affect the music. But on trying it again he found it made no difference.

No Static Interferes
Programs are absolutely without static and the music is much clearer and more beautiful than over any receiving set.

"Laddie Boy," the Saur's Boston screw tail bulldog, is more affected by the mystery than any one else. Four or five minutes before the family can hear anything, Mr. Saur says Laddie Boy begins pricking up his ears and running about the house. Then the radio program begins coming in. He runs everywhere, prying about as if trying to find the source of the sound; then he returns to his master and by his actions confesses his failure.

There is nothing coming in now, Mr. Saur says, because in summer it is too hot to keep the doors and windows closed. But the house is still a point of interest and many persons stop to look at it curiously.

Barber Missouri Town's Historian
HUNTSVILLE, Mo., July 27.—The barber shop of Bagby and Mayo is the home of the city's archives. Here, in a huge diary, resting on a center table, are chronicled each day's events.

The "barber shop book" ends all disputes. When customers get to arguing about the coldest or hottest days, the book is opened and there is found the truth in black and white.

It's no use to try to sell your five-year-old used car as a two-year-old, because the book will find you out.

The valuation of shipping since 1921 has nearly doubled, keeping pace with the population, building and financial growth of the city. The total valuation of ocean imports and exports in Port San Diego in 1921 was $18,213,149. In 1925, it had jumped to $35,361,684 and this year the monthly reports so far indicate that the upward swing of the curve will be continued. Tonnage in 1925 amounted to $20,560. Back in 1920 there were only three steamship lines operating out of San Diego's harbor. Today, there are 21 lines, representing the principal ports of the world. San Diego is connected today with regular freight and passenger sailings to and from American Atlantic coast ports as well as our Pacific coast ports.

LIONS QUARTET MAKES BIG HIT AT CONVENTION

Most of the Santa Ana Lions attending the district and international conventions in San Francisco, last week, returned home last night, with enthusiastic declarations that both the conferences were the best ever held, either by the district or by Lions International.

Dr. Elliott H. Rowland, mentioned many times in the last two years as timber for election to the position of district governor, was elected chairman of the officers' association of the district. The district embraces California, Nevada and Hawaii.

"The programs for the conventions were the finest ever and were featured by splendid talks on objects of Lions International," Rowland said.

The Lions club quartet made a big hit, singing before each of the conventions. It was estimated that 4000 were present at the district convention and 10,000 at the international.

"California put over a big program of entertainment for the eastern visitors and the Lions and Lionesses from all parts of the United States and Canada were deeply impressed with the hospitality extended them," Rowland commented.

The exhibit maintained by the Lions clubs of Orange county in the big civic auditorium attracted the attention of the thousands of visitors and was particularly conspicuous because of its location in the pavilion and because of the type of display.

"The quartet and the display put Orange county on the map, so far as the conventions were concerned," Rowland said.

According to Rowland, there is some talk now of making plans for sending the quartet to the next international convention, to be held in Miami, Fla.

Riverside was chosen as the district convention city for 1927. Group two of the officers' association, embracing officers of clubs south of the Tehachapi, will meet in Santa Ana in September.

Those present from Santa Ana were Mr. and Mrs. Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Munroe, Mr. and Mrs. Roy King, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Ham, Fred Wilde, Dr. Garland Ross, H. W. Hillyard, William Lorenz and E. M. Sundquist. Mr. and Mrs. Munroe went to Sacramento, after adjournment for a visit, and are expected to arrive home tomorrow.

California Fruit Season Under Way
Opening the 1926 intensive packing season, over 200 cars of green fruit freshly plucked in the orchards of northern and central California are speeding each night under special train orders to canning and packing plants in the San Francisco Bay district, and San Jose region, according to J. T. Saunders, freight traffic manager for Southern Pacific company.

The special cannery trains began operating July 12 and already over two thousand cars of plums, peaches and pears have been through the canning process and are ready for eastern markets. At the peak of the season it is expected that between 400 and 500 cars of fruit will move each night to the canneries.

California's canned goods output last year amounted to $109,000,000, 30 per cent of which was shipped to eastern and European markets. Shipping and traffic experts predict that the cannery output for this year will exceed last year by 25 per cent. Southern Pacific company has placed 3000 specially equipped cars at the disposal of the fruit growers.

Pelicans Refuse To Swallow Trout
BERKELEY, July 27.—Pelicans, the original "divers" of the air, eat more than 150 pounds of fish daily, but trout form no part of their menu, according to scientific investigation.

This fact was established today by E. Raymond Hall, research assistant at the University of California museum of vertebrate zoology, following a two-year study at Pyramid Lake, Nevada.

It was charged by trout fishermen that pelicans were destroying the fish in the streams of the state. Delegated to investigate, Hall declared he found that pelicans ate red suckers, minnows, chubs, catfish, perch, carp, but no trout.

"The decrease of trout in the streams has been due to man-made conditions, rather than to the activities of the birds," he said.

"You can't buy a 100,000 horsepower generator at a 10-cent store"

SO SAYS a great student who has the knack of condensing a lot of wisdom into a homely phrase.

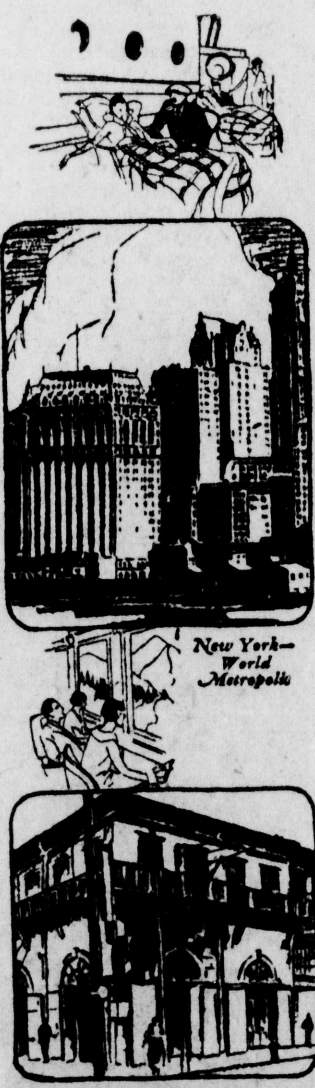

The electric business is a big business—it has to be big to operate economically and give adequate service at all times to its thousands of customers. Big generators are more efficient than small ones. High voltage gives us long distance transmission. Big men with big brains can be employed by a large institution. Big buying power means lower prices. Stability of organization means stability of service.

The net result to the user is a better service at a lower cost. Electric service is cheaper than before the war while the average of all other commodities is 65% higher.

Betrothals Weddings Reception By Eleanor Young Elliott Phone Nine-O. Social Items Fashion Hints

Yacht Club Gayeties Of Past and Future Are Related

SUGGESTING the social gayeties that will make Regatta week one of the most brilliant events of the summer at Newport Harbor Yacht club, was the mid-summer sailor's ball featured at the clubhouse Saturday night, and calling together an unusually large group of members and friends.

Many of them were there for dinner also, remaining to enjoy the colorful dancing party. The Joe Martin orchestra of Los Angeles had been secured for the musical program and offered a most intriguing selection of dance music. Costumes were varied and clever; the nautical motif predominating. Especially attractive was that worn by Miss Betty White of Redlands who was garbed in the grass skirt and leis of an Hawaiian beauty.

Charles S. Ullman as a blood-thirsty Captain Kid, took first prize for the men, a club burgee, while to his pretty dancing partner, appraised as a jolly Jack Tar, was presented the prize for the feminine members, a club pin.

The friendliness and informality so closely associated with Yacht Club affairs, was prevalent, and the guests were given the warmest anticipations for next week's events as well as for the bridge luncheon on Friday, July 30, which will institute the usual August Friday evening.

Regatta week will have a series of unusually delightful parties for Yacht club femininity in the intervals when attention is not being centered on the racing events. Each afternoon, tea will be served in the ballroom between 4 and 5 o'clock, with a different hostess to preside each day.

A visit to the Laguna Beach galleries and studios will be arranged for visitors on one afternoon. The Mrs. Albert Solland will open her beautiful home near the clubhouse for an Hawaiian tea at which her assistant hostesses will be the wives of the crew which took the Mariner to Hawaii in the recent races. Friday will bring the weekly bridge luncheon which is expected to attract a record-breaking crowd.

Of the evening affairs, hints are given of a dancing party at Santa Ana Country club, of bridge events at the Yacht club and of the crowning festivity of all, Hawaiian night at the clubhouse, for which plans are made to have everything in absolute keeping with the tropical motif.

Twelfth Birthday Is Celebrated

Happy laughter and exclamations of joy were to be heard yesterday afternoon at 1014 West Third street when little Miss Dora Perkins, daughter of Richard Perkins, celebrated her twelfth birthday. Another happy feature of the party was that all of the guests were members of Miss Dora's class when she was graduated from McKinley school this spring.

A color scheme of orange and white was carried out in the refreshments which followed an afternoon spent playing many interesting games. Fruit salad, ice cream and the big birthday cake were served by Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. A. Perkins the honoree's aunt and grandmother.

Mother Plans Dinner For Son's Birthday

One of the pleasantest dinner parties of the past week was given Sunday by Mrs. Mary Jane Clapp at her home, 221 South Sycamore street, in honor of the birthday of her son, Benjamin Clapp. The color scheme of pink and yellow was followed with summer flowers of the table decorations, the birthday cake and candles. The number of candles was not known, but Mr. Clapp was surprised with gifts almost enough to total the number used on the cake. A very unusual feature of the gathering was the presence of four generations of the family.

Those enjoying the happy event with Mr. Clapp were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cliff and daughter Beverly Jean of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haven and children of Santa Ana, Mrs. G. L. Budroe and son of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heyl, Manhattan Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clapp, Huntington Beach and Mrs. Mary Jane Clapp.

JOLLY FROLIC OF B. AND P. W. TAKES FORM OF PARK PARTY

"There was a sound of revelry by night" to all who passed near Orange County park last night, and the greater part of it might be traced directly to the group of Business and Professional Women who elected to hold a steak bake at the county's play ground, with the July committee as hostesses and general maids-of-all-work.

This committee, composed of Lee Patton, chairman; Clara Cushman, Mary Smart, Mabel Weisman and Olive Peeler, has been responsible for an interesting series of Monday programs, and reached the climax of its entertaining with last night's party. A few ladies were pressed into service, Jeannette McFadden, Mabel McFadden, Mayme Brightwell and Laura Murray—the latter assuming the responsibility of arranging transportation—and the group served one of the best suppers ever enjoyed by the club. Perhaps D. W. Cook was responsible for the menu, the perfection salad (well-named) and the escalloped potatoes, but the committee planned everything and no one could steal from its members, the glory of having prepared the most toothsome steaks that ever melted in the mouth.

A pleasant feature of the dinner was the birthday celebration arranged for a future Business Woman, Miss Ethel Ellis, young daughter of Mrs. Ruth Ellis, a member of the board of directors. Ethel was surprised indeed when two candle-light birthday cakes were placed before her—one was from her mother, the other from the club.

Miss Ethel and her older sister, Miss Adahuth Ellis, added greatly to the after-dinner pleasures, by their music, the former playing the violin to her sister's piano accompaniment. The two young people took turn about with Clara Cook, an active member of the club.

Members and guests assembled for the evening's pleasure included the president, Louise Kaiser, Elva Albrecht, Clara B. Cook, Elizabeth Perkins, Teresa G. McDonough, Clara Brucke, Martha Briggs, Olive Lopez, Ruth Taylor Scudder, Hazel C. Northcross, Ada S. McFadden, Bess Mathis, Flora Pritchett, Helene Kubitz, Lulu B. Finley, Mary D. Aresgood, Hester T. Oglewiler, Beth Phillips, Mary E. Wright, Effie D. White, Susan Rutherford, Lena Thomas, Martha Whitson, Adahuth Ellis, Ruth Dale Ellis, Ethel Ellis, Laura L. Murray, Lulu B. Ott, Mary N. Hilliard, Minnie Mayhill, Grace M. Grigsby, B. Pearl Nicholson, Mabel C. Larick, Edna M. M. Smart, Nancy Elder, Gail Finley, Kathleen Owens, Dorothy Green, Louise Stephenson, Mabel McFadden, Jeannette McFadden, Mabel Weisman, Mary Smith, Lee Patton, Clara Cushman, Alice Waser, Mayme Brightwell, Ana Y. Bishop, Harriet Whidden, Cecyl H. Drake, Eleanor Young Elliott, Italy H. Lee, Janet Osborne, Edith M. Zehner, Marcia Jane Babbitt and Alice Waser.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Gall whose marriage was an event of Wednesday, July 21, in Los Angeles, have returned to Santa Ana after a brief honeymoon spent in La Jolla. Until their plans are further matured, Mr. and Mrs. Gall will reside at Mr. Gall's home on West Third street. Mrs. Gall was formerly Miss Edna Alger.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar of 816 Bush street, and the Misses Evelyn and Eleanor Metzgar returned Sunday from a two weeks' trip to Berkeley, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Keith. Mrs. Keith is a sister of Mr. Metzgar. Returning with the Metzgars was Miss Virginia Carey, Mr. Metzgar's niece, who expects to be here for some time.

Attorney and Mrs. L. A. West and Miss Alverda West left Saturday for an extended vacation at Mammoth Lakes.

Miss Doris Robbins of Lacy street, has as a house guest Miss Edna Beatty of San Francisco. At present they are spending a week at Miss Robbins' Laguna Beach cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams have returned from a trip through Yellowstone National park and other points of interest enroute and are planning to leave again Thursday for Yosemite park where they will be guests of State Highway Commissioner and Mrs. Nelson T. Edwards. Mr. Edwards is to make a speech at the opening of the new road into Yosemite valley.

Mrs. Amos N. Cox, 407 South Broadway, has returned from Manhattan Beach where she was the guest for a few days, of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wood. Mrs. Wood was Miss Vivian Cox. Mr. and Mrs. Cox returned only last week from a pleasant motor trip through the northern part of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Smith, 915 East Washington avenue, and their daughter and grandchildren, Mrs. G. Allen and Edna, have returned from a pleasant trip to San Diego during which they visited Point Loma, Mission Gardens, Balboa park, Coronado and other points of interest of the southern city. Mr. Allen and her children will remain at the Smith home until the return of Mr. Allen from a trip to Kentucky.

The Rev. Joseph A. Stevenson, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and now of San Jose, who was a guest in the R. J. Bies home, 311 Orange avenue, over the week end, was greeted by hundreds of his old friends when he preached at Sunday morning and evening services.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Tarpley, 644 North Van Ness avenue, have had as their guests for the past week, Mrs. A. S. Norwood and her daughters, the Misses Agnes and Adelaide Norwood of Wichita Falls, Texas. Their visit was marked by numerous outings including one at Catalina, also stays at "Climb Inn," the Tarpley mountain home at Lake Arrowhead, and "Splash Inn," their cottage at Balboa.

Miss Blanche Lewis of West Seventeenth street, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clayton, Mrs. Edythe Nichols and Miss Eva Beardsley, spent a most delightful week end at Catalina. The young women are all on their vacations from their duties at the U. S. Long Distance telephone office.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, 401 West Eighth street, accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Earl and Mrs. H. C. Wheeler, attended the First Baptist church at Whittier. They joined a group of Minnesota residents that were honoring Mr. and Mrs. George P. Anderson and family, from Austin, Minn., who are visiting in Whittier. Mr. John McFarland, pastor of the church, was formerly of Austin.

Miss Rasmie Coons, 502 West Fourth street, was absent from her duties in the office of Rankin's store yesterday, on account of illness.

Mrs. Henry Tralle and Miss Margaret Tralle of New York City, who have been in Santa Ana several weeks visiting with Dr. and Mrs. G. M. Tralle, 311 South Main street, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tralle, 332 Normandy, will leave Thursday morning for Kansas enroute to their home in New York.

Floyd Crodgy, 801 West Third street, president of the Santa Ana Improvement company, was absent from his office today on account of illness.

What? Lunch—When? Noon—where? Givens-Cannon, 4th St. at Ross.

Campers Reach Home From Outing in Sequoia Park

FILLED with enthusiasm about Sequoia National park, its green meadows and giant trees, its wealth of wild life—deer, bear, squirrels and birds, Mr. and Mrs. William McKay, 607 South Birch street, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert P. Campbell, 833 South Patton street, are home from a delightful vacation spent in the park. They were accompanied by Mrs. McKay's parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Day and Miss Carrie-Ellen Day of Pasadena.

The party found the park well equipped with camp sites, and even to the great hot and cold water tanks in cement wash rooms built at intervals through the park. The wild life, they found especially interesting, and so fearless were the denizens of the park that the party returned with some really remarkable pictures of deer, bear and even the swift and timid squirrel. One great, antlered buck grew so tame that he would hang around the camp waiting for the watermelon with which they regaled him, and would take it fearlessly from their hands. A shy yellow oriole flew from a tree and alighted on Mrs. McKay's shoulder and a timid little ground squirrel finally reached the point where it perched on Miss Day's shoulder and ate peanuts from her hand.

Mr. McKay asserted too, that the fishing was an enjoyable part of the outing and that their party boasted some delightful devotees of Isaac Walton, but admitted that they caught no fish!

Young People Wed At Parsonage Home

Two popular young people of Garden Grove, Miss Pollyanna Rogers and Austin Farrell, were united in marriage yesterday morning in this city, at the home of the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church.

They were accompanied by Mrs. George Rogers and Miss Florence Stark, both aunts of the bride. The young people will make their home in this city, having taken one of the pleasant apartments at Jackson Court on West Fourth street.

Mr. Farrell is an oil worker at Huntington Beach. His bride has been employed with the Arrow-smith Dry Goods store in Garden Grove where she has made many warm friends.

Sunday School Board Picnics At Park

Enjoying the first picnic meeting of the year, about fifty members of the Sunday School board of the First Methodist church gathered about long tables in Orange County park last evening for a sumptuous pot-luck dinner, hot coffee and orangeade being served by the committee. The board provides two picnics a year.

A. H. Theal presided over a brief business session following the enjoyment of the dinner. The Rev. James H. Hughes and his bride, formerly Miss Nellie Irvine, were present and were given a warm welcome home from their honeymoon.

KEEPING SLENDER WORRIES GERMANS

BERLIN, July 27.—How to keep slender is a question of great moment to persons in the artistic world in Berlin. Whether it is by reason of the climate or food, it seems a hard struggle to keep a slim figure in Germany, after one has reached the late 20s.

During the lean years of the war a decrease in the number of portly persons was noted, but nowadays there seem to be as many heavyweights as before.

Theatrical folk especially have to adopt Spartan habits to preserve "the line." Maria Orska, a leading comedienne, said in answer to a question that eating to her is "just a disagreeable daily task."

Many Gifts Showered On Bride-elect at Evening Party

AS THE FINAL pre-nuptial courtesy to be extended to Miss Lillian Penrose as she becomes the bride of Morris Miller, was the pretty party given for her on a recent evening, by her brother, William Penrose, at the home of their mother, 1014 West Second street.

The young people devoted the evening to the game of buncos which yielded much entertainment for all and pretty prizes for the two winners, Miss Minerva Carpenter and Harold Pickering.

Late in the evening, Mrs. Penrose served dainty refreshments to the guests, eighteen in number. The affair also served to celebrate the birthday of Mr. Miller, bridegroom-elect.

The surprise feature came when countless attractive gifts were showered on Miss Penrose in honor of her marriage, an event of the immediate future.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Members of the executive board of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs are looking forward with pleasant anticipation to the next meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, August 5, at 10 a. m. at Costa Mesa.

Owing to the interesting program for the day, Mrs. A. P. Nelson, county president, has extended an invitation to all federated clubwomen of the county to attend. Among the principal matters to come before the meeting will be the report of Mrs. Nellie E. Terry of Anaheim, who represented Orange county at biennial at Atlantic City and a twenty-minute talk by Dr. Beauda Ralche of Anaheim, state chairman who will explain the duties of chairmen.

Luncheon will be served at noon. Reservations to be sent to Mrs. R. G. Roberts at Newport Beach.

Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society members are anticipating a happy time Friday afternoon when they will enjoy a missionary tea in the Glendale home of a former active member, Mrs. E. B. Covington. They will meet at the church at 12 o'clock, noon, and there automobiles will be in readiness to take them to Glendale, where the famous Covington hospitality will be extended. The Covington home is at 1446 Virginia avenue in the neighboring city.

Section No. 1 of St. Joseph's Altar society will give a card party tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Castler, 730 Spurgeon street, 609 and whilst being the games selected. Refreshments will be served at the close of the afternoon. Mrs. L. M. Banks is chairman of this section.

Capistrano Institute, Y. L. I. will hold its regular meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in Knights of Columbus hall. An interesting meeting is anticipated. Miss Anne Lieberman is chairman of the good of the institute committee.

Naval Officers Get New Uniforms

PARIS, July 27.—French naval officers, through a decree for which M. George Leygues, minister of marine, is responsible, are to have a new dress uniform for evening wear which will be comparable in style and dignity with those of the naval officers of other nations.

Before You Send the Children to School

Last year many students in Santa Ana schools failed because they were handicapped by poor eyes. This year let's be sure the eyes are normal before school starts. If the eyes are normal, it will be gratifying to know it—if they are not normal, then they should have immediate attention, before the trouble is beyond control. Let us examine them now.

POE'S STORIES: The Murders in the Rue Morgue (3)

Sketches by Redner
Synopsis by Braucher

The murders seemed an insoluble mystery. To the police there seemed an element of the supernatural in the deeds, for all doors and windows were found securely fastened from within, the chimney was too narrow and there were no secret passages. The mystery awakened great excitement in the Quartier St. Roch.

Living at this time in a desolate part of the Faubourg St. Germaine were two young men, bound together by common poverty and philosophical pursuits.

One of these was Monsieur C. Auguste Dupin, a keen analyst, who revealed in such problems as that which confronted the police in the Rue Morgue.

Dupin and his friend obtained permits to inspect the scene. Dupin scrutinized everything closely, including the two bodies. Returning they stopped at a newspaper office, where Dupin stayed a short time. Dupin's friend seemed disappointed, but next day Dupin armed himself and told his friend to do likewise since he was awaiting a caller who was implicated in the murders. (Continued)

Free Spirit For Art

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Five young composers of France have been under solitary confinement recently in the old palace of Fontainebleau near Paris. They were competing, under the auspices of the French government, for a prize of $5000 francs to be paid annually by the state, for four-year courses at the Villa Medici in Rome.

The students were entirely isolated in the palace, and under strict guard. Each had a separate room with sound-proof walls. None was allowed to receive mail or communicate in any way with the outside world. As a result, the composers produced musical themes that won for one of them the coveted "Musical Prix de Rome."

Such a course reminds us of medieval if not ancient times. It may be an excellent way of making sure that the work produced is entirely their own. But on the other hand genius seldom thrives on made-to-order effort. A dressmaker once said, a designer and an artist at her trade, "Mine is the most nerve-racking work in the world. I am expected to be an artist, to design an original gown suitable for the woman who orders it, in keeping with the season and the occasion for which she wishes to wear it, plan it and execute it within a week or two weeks, as the case may be."

"No painter, unless he is a portrait painter, would be so coerced. He must wait for the time and place and idea to be right before he picks up his brush." The Pulitzer prize for the most able novel of the year. He refused it on the ground that the prize system was hampering to freedom. It is probably true that in time novelists will be more or less influenced, in blocking out their books according to the blue prints of the judges, if the prize system persists.

Acting sensible under a beautiful moon is showing your ignorance.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THIS is success, so to have lived your years. That all who've known you shall have found you true. Have seen in some way what is best in you. And found in you some comfort for their tears. A smile which passed but often reappears. Or heard a word which cheered them through and through. And think of you as one who tried to do Some friendly service in a time of fears.

SUCCESS
Great souls in humble bodies often dwell, The noble spirits walk in common ways. In thoughtfulness for others they excel, A gentle friendship marks their round of days. Longest remembered at the journey's end, Is he who reaped the glory as a friend.

Menus for the Family

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs with rice, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Lettuce and egg salad, brown bread and butter sandwiches, blueberry cup pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER: Lamb stew with vegetables, cabbage and fresh pineapple salad, banana cream pudding, graham bread, milk, coffee.

Two or three ripe bananas are rubbed through a ricer and mixed with a cup or more of thoroughly chilled cream whipped until stiff. This mixture is then slightly sweetened with powdered sugar and served with a dash of ground cinnamon over the top.

Blueberry Cup Pudding

One cup molasses, 1-2 cup boiling water, 2-3 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, 1 cup washed blueberries.

Drain and dry berries between towels. Dredge with 2 tablespoons flour. Mix and sift remaining flour with soda, salt and ginger. Add boiling water to molasses in mixing bowl. Add dry ingredients and mix thoroughly, beating until smooth. Beat in melted butter. Beat hard for one or two minutes. Add egg well beaten and stir in prepared berries. Bake in buttered and floured custard cups or graham pans in a moderately hot oven for 20 minutes. Serve warm with whipped cream or plain cream. (Copyright 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

LACE FOR FALL

Lace collars and cuffs, fashion experts say, will be "the thing" this fall.

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

Reader—You can give yourself an electric treatment at home if you have a vibrator, or you can get the treatments at any one of the beauty parlors.

O. R.—Take a spring tonic, such as tea made from dandelion roots, and it is probably all that you need to build up your skin and clear all the spots off your skin.

P. D. Q.—The henna shampoo will not change the natural shade of the hair. You may judge the effect by what it does to stray white hairs, tinting them to a deep cream so they no longer show when brushed into the rest of the hair. Make your final rinse very cold after you shampoo to help you get rid of the tendency to an oily scalp.

Mr. W. A. T.—Real exercise, such as you get in the gymnasium or through sport or gardening, followed by a cold shower and then a vigorous rubbing down with coarse towels, will be all that is needed for most young men to rid themselves of oily skins and coarsened pores that have been made so through clogging.

E. A. Mc. I.—I would not advise drinking lemon juice, or lemon juice and salt, for clearing the complexion. If you need acid you will be apt to crave it and therefore be apt to choose foods that give you this, but it would be injurious to your digestion or even affect your health if you forced yourself to take acid when your system does not require it. Your loss of weight is all right since you are growing taller.

Ora.—The pink spots left from pimples will fade away as the skin recovers, and this will be a much surer way of attaining a good skin than to use bleaching lotions that only irritate.

J. H.—Rub salt on the wart or a little pumice, and if it continues to grow have a doctor remove it. It may dry up and drop off if you wait for it, but do not try any lotions as you suggest for you may leave a scar on your nose.

Mrs. W. F.—Massage your face and throat every day and use a nourishing oil or cream. After removing the surplus oil dash very cold water over your skin to close the pores and help the skin grow firm. If you are in good health this treatment should be all your skin needs to recover its youthful appearance.

D. D. D.—Dash cold water over all the muscles of your chest every day and use light friction from a coarse towel to stimulate the circulation. Several months of this will help the flabby condition of the bust. If you used camphor or any other similarly drying lotion, it will take a longer time to effect a recovery. Tomorrow—A Clear Complexion.

Queer Quirks of Nature

A Tree That Is Thousands of Years Old

BEAUTIFUL NOW, BUT HE WAS UGLY ONCE

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK
Curator, U. S. National Museum
Hickory Horn Devil is the name most frequently applied to a huge caterpillar commonly found on hickory walnut trees.

This caterpillar may reach a length of five inches when fully extended. On the front part of its body it bears on the back eight long and serrate horns, four shorter and black, and four longer and orange or red with black tips.

In many places this caterpillar is much feared, but in spite of its terrible appearance it is quite harmless. It feeds on many different kinds of trees besides the hickory and walnut, but is seldom common enough to be injurious.

In the late summer the hickory horn devil works its way into the ground. There it makes for itself a little cell in which it transforms into a chrysalis or pupa, and in that state spends the winter.

In June it emerges from the ground as a handsome moth known as the royal walnut moth, with the forewings grayish olive or purplish with red veins and a few oval yellow spots and the hind legs dull orange.

Though not one of the largest, this is one of the most beautiful of our larger moths, and it is difficult to believe that in its younger stages it ever could have been such a hideous thing as a hickory horn devil.

In New York

NEW YORK 27.—This is open season for musical auditions in New York.

Anyone can bag a limit of vocalists, fiddlers and piano thumpers in a few hours.

A week's check-up on Aeolian or Carnegie Hall leaves the impression that half the talent of America makes its way to Manhattan somehow or other for a public hearing.

The summer holiday season seems to let down the gates of every Middlesex village and farm and out pours the ambitious flood of ambitious ones in search of models, scholarships, opera parts, public appearances, concert connections—anything and everything.

To thousands it is the most important moment of a lifetime. For a few hours they seem important. Whether or not they succeed they can always go back home and, for years after, tell of "how I got an audition at Carnegie Hall."

Perhaps those who fall are the most fortunate. A few, perhaps, achieve greatness. A vast number, encouraged by the bravos of the audition, join the army of strugglers to be found in Manhattan; folk who never get very high up or very far down. Their dreams, always a few feet ahead, invariably escape them.

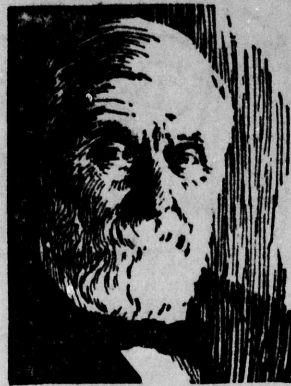

The daily mail is filled with letters. A bootblack, an iceman, a stenographer who practices an hour before she goes to work, a small-town singing teacher, a farmer in Vermont.

The other day a truck driver came up, announcing that he had to hurry as he was taking his lunch hour and had left his truck at the curb.

Women Need a Mild Laxative -Not a "Physic"

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it. Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

WHAT COUNCIL DID LOUD-GROWING ROOSTER AGAIN SOURCE OF IRE

The city council last night acted as judge in the third round of the battle of Lucien A. Sweet and a neighbor over maintenance, by the neighbor, of a rooster that grows long, loud and early in the morning.

Sweet was before the council some weeks ago, complaining that the bird disturbs the slumbers of himself and family and that the noise was particularly distressing to Mrs. Sweet, who is ill.

Later, the neighbor appeared and asserted that Sweet's objections to the chicken plant near his home were based more on spite work than on real cause for complaint.

Sweet's appearance again before the board to make further complaint resulted in the appointment, by the council, of a committee to outline a district in which the keeping of roosters would be prohibited. Councilmen McPhee and Goode were named to the committee.

When the district is created, as it was intimated it would be, the council will be confronted with the problem of determining when a cockerel becomes a rooster.

And the problem promises to be just as vexing and as hard to solve as has been the solution of the point as to when a puppy becomes a dog. The latter problem was up when the council was discussing the proposed ordinance requiring vaccination of dogs.

The ordinance never was passed, however, and the governing body had the opportunity to sidestep the question as to "when is a dog?"

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 27.—The installation service was held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. H. Walker, of the First Presbyterian church, of Anaheim, preached the sermon. The Rev. Henry C. Russell, of the Second Presbyterian church, Long Beach, gave the charge to the pastor, the Rev. R. A. Weed. The Rev. Russell presided at the meeting. The Rev. W. T. Wardle, of Los Angeles, former pastor here, gave the charge to the people. The choir sang, "In the Silence of His Presence."

Howard Gould, who has been in the Clara Barton hospital, has returned to his home. While working with his father, a piece of iron fell, hitting his foot. He is able to get about on crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Knapp and family and Doyle Stockton were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Murdy in Los Angeles Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Campbell and family spent Sunday at Anaheim landing.

Outfall Sewer Extension Bids Opened

Bids for extending the outfall sewer, opened by the council last night, varied approximately $100,000 between the high and low bid. The high combination bid on the sewer line work and the screen plant was $305,909 and the low, $205,140.

Five bids were submitted for the extension work and three for the addition to the screening plant, one of the latter being a little irregular because of failure of the bidder to sign his bid.

The offers were referred to engineers for checking and award of the contract will be made by the council next Monday night. A meeting of the joint councils will be held in the city hall here at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

FAN DISTRIBUTION DENIED BY COUNCIL

The city council last night denied the request of F. M. Norwood, proprietor of the De Luxe print shop, for permission to distribute fans, bearing the political advertising of C. N. Mozley, candidate for district attorney.

The printer pointed out that he had printed a large number of the fans and had hired Boy Scouts to deliver them into the hands of occupants of homes at which they called and said that he felt this was not a violation of the ordinance.

Police declared they had the street numbers of houses where the fans had been stuck in the door and also the street numbers of unoccupied houses, where fans had been left.

Norwood was warned by the mayor against further attempt to distribute the fans in Santa Ana and was advised to place them in districts outside of Santa Ana.

STEADY BUSINESS GROWTH REVEALED

WASHINGTON, July 27.—All the "boom years" of American history were exceeded last year by steady, normal growth of industry and commerce, Secretary of Commerce Hoover's economic experts asserted in the "commerce year book" for 1925.

Steady growth of industry and commerce and great increases in efficiency were credited with causing the high water mark of prosperity. The year was notable for its lack of credit inflation aside from heavy securities speculation, the report said.

Average wages per hour in terms of money continue at least twice as high as before the war, an increase much more marked than the increase in the cost of living, and the workingman "is consequently enjoying the highest real wages in our history," the report said.

The "most impressive" development of American industry is its rapidly advancing efficiency, the report stated, pointing out that the output increased at least 60 per cent in the period 1914-1925, while the number of workmen increased only 27 per cent.

Railroad traffic last year also probably set a new record. The traffic was equal to or larger than that of 1923, the previous peak year, it was said, and the net railway operating income of $1,120,000,000 for class 1 roads was the highest ever reported.

Americans Hurry In Seeing England

LONDON, July 27.—Most of the American touring parties do not stay in Great Britain over a fortnight, and many of them are doing England in a single week. British people never cease to be amazed at the amount of sight-seeing American visitors can do in that time.

STATE TENTH IN PER CAPITA DEBT

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—Fourth in wealth, eighth in population, but tenth in per capita state debt.

That is how California ranks among the states of the union, according to a statement today by State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson.

Despite the fact that the state is growing like a weed and heavy expenditures are necessary to keep up with such a growth, the per capita debt is only $28.70 as shown by the U. S. department of commerce in its 1926 report, he said.

"California's financial rating is far above par as far as the state government is concerned," said Johnson. "The gross debt, the federal report says, is $110,745,956, while the net debt, or funded and floating debt, less sinking fund assets, is only $91,980,605."

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, July 27.—Mrs. K. F. Morris Cleaves, singer and reader of Los Angeles, will give a sacred recital at the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The subject will be "Old Time Men" and will include readings on "The Man Who Wanted the Earth," "The Man Who Chased the Dollar," "The Man Who Wouldn't" and "The Man Who Would." Vocal solos will intersperse the readings. A silver offering will be taken to defray expenses.

A farewell party was given Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Watkins and family, Friday evening. About 40 neighbors and friends marched into the yard singing "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Another song was sung, followed by remarks by the Rev. Charles E. Hurlburt, expressing the esteem and love felt for their good work done here.

"Blessed Be the Tie That Binds" was sung, followed by benediction by the Rev. Watkins.

The Rev. Watkins, who has been pastor of the Free Methodist church for the past three years, left Saturday with his family for Escondido, where he will have charge of the church at that place.

The Beta Sigma Sunday school class of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold its regular monthly meeting and picnic supper at Birch park, Santa Ana, on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock.

Thirty young people of the B. Y. P. U. gathered at the Baptist building for the regular monthly social on Friday evening.

A short business meeting was held, followed by games and stunts, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

When the social hour was concluded, the members went in a body to the home of Miss Edna Beardsley, where they serenaded her by singing several selections. Miss Beardsley is much improved from her recent illness. Miss Bell Collins, of Santa Ana, was a guest of the B. Y. P. U.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Wight and two children and Miss Evelyn Smith, of Los Angeles, and Derald Smith, of San Fernando, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wight on Sunday. Miss Smith returned to her training in the Los Angeles county hospital after a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Brown and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, visited relatives at Long Beach Sunday.

Mrs. Nettie Maas, of Belvedere Gardens, spent Friday and Saturday at the M. B. Allen home. She was accompanied home by her niece, Miss Dorothy Allen, who had been spending a week at Belvedere Gardens.

The Rev. Basil Silkwood and Henry Silkwood attended the Illinois picnic at Bixby park in Long Beach Saturday.

In observance of the 18th birthday anniversary of Lawrence Allen, the following enjoyed a swimming party and picnic supper at Newport Beach on Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Allen and family, Dr. Charles E. Hurlburt, Miss Rebecca Hurlburt, Miss Grace Mosley and Mrs. Nettie Maas, of Belvedere Gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Harris left Saturday for Del Monte, where they will be present on visitors' day at the Citizens' Military Training camp, where their son, Kenneth, has been during the past month. He will accompany them home after a few days' visit with relatives in the north.

S. Trumpy departed Saturday over the Southern Pacific on an extensive trip to various points in the northern part of the state and the middle west. His first stop will be at Sacramento, where he will visit friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Aabel and family are visiting in Garden Grove for a few days before Mr. Aabel and son, Orval, return to their home at Welton, Ariz. Mrs. Aabel and daughter will remain in Los Angeles for the rest of the summer.

F. M. Reasnyder and W. B. Wentz returned Saturday from San Francisco, where they attended the convention of Lions clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Crosby entertained the following dinner guests on Saturday: Miss Evelyn Smith, of Los Angeles; Miss Louise Cecil and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wight.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Roepke and daughter of Long Beach, were visitors in Garden Grove Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ford and Miss Isabel Northcross spent Sunday at Balboa.

Mrs. E. Young, of Los Angeles, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Smith.

SENT TO JAIL JUST BECAUSE HE WAS SINGLE

If Myron L. Wolf, 21, 330 Hickory street, was a married man, he might not be in jail at the present time—but he's single.

Wolf was arrested by State Traffic Officers Yoder and Cain on a charge of speeding 41 miles an hour. He was cited to appear in Justice John Landell's court, in San Juan Capistrano, but when the appointed day arrived, Wolf is said to have been elsewhere.

When found, he was taken before the justice of the Mission city and fined $5 on the speeding charge and given five days in the county jail for not appearing at the proper time.

Wolf is said to have explained to Judge Landell that he had just been married and asked for some time in order to make arrangements for his wife. Time was granted, but, in the meantime, state officers are said to have learned that Wolf wasn't married at all, so they reported their findings to the judge.

A commitment was issued immediately and Wolf was lodged in jail last night.

JOHNNIE IS GIVEN EXTRA DAY IN JAIL

Johnnie Yeargan, 21, Costa Mesa youth, served six days in jail in connection with his arrest on a speeding charge, instead of the usual five-day sentence, handed out to fast drivers in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, jail records revealed today.

The extra day for Yeargan was given for failure to appear in court at a time when he was summoned and because state traffic officers were required to go after him, it was said.

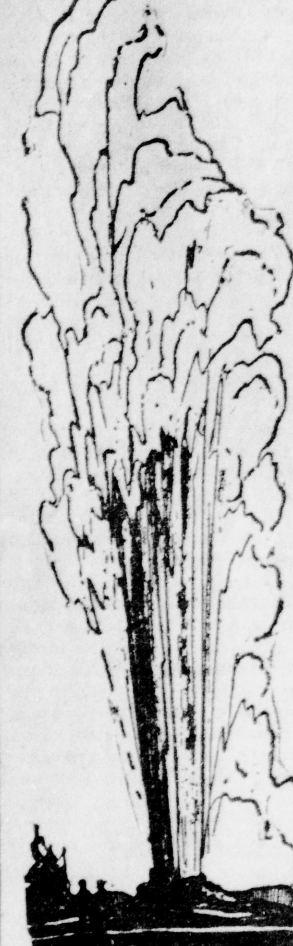

Yeargan was released from jail today, at the expiration of the two sentences.

He was first arrested for speeding 50 miles an hour on the Newport road, and for this offense was given five days in the county jail.

When the five-day term expired, he was rearrested and held for another day.

Whiten Skin with Lemon

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

Some More 'Specialties'

Here, in Orange county, the study of Entomology, with particular relation to economic insect pests and their eradication, is of absorbing interest. It is so varied, so complicated as to merit the attention and study of each and all of us. Many people never even wonder why we do not use a stomach poison, like lead arsenic, on "sucking insects." Neither do they wonder why a spray used for scale insects might be valueless against plant fungus, blights, mildews and rusts. The insecticidal control of these pests is a science. Following is a list of some of the more common sprays and dusts that we carry for fighting insect pests:

BLACK LEAF FORTY—for spraying sucking insects.

NICOTINE DUSTS—for quick acting work against practically all chewing insects, except those working on stone fruits.

LEAD ARSENATE—(Both Basic and Acid) for chewing insects.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE—for blights.

SULPHUR—for blights, rusts, mildews and Red Spider.

VOLCK—An emulsified oil paste for all scale insects and Mealy Bugs.

CYANOGAS—for ants, rats, gophers and squirrels.

POTASSIUM SULPHIDE—for rusts.

CARBOLINEUM—(Avenarius) for all bird mites.

PYRETHRUM—powders for flies, fleas and lice.

CRESOL DIPS—for dipping and spraying livestock.

B-K and CHOLERINE and GERMOZONE—germicides.

NO-MOR-FLY—the finest fly killing spray known to science and so on—ad infinitum.

We really try to give you service. No order to small.

WILL C. WOOD URGES VOTERS WHIP GOVERNOR

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—Calling on the "friends of education in California" to "battle with might and main to defeat Gov. Friend W. Richardson at the August primary," Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, fired a broadside at the Richardson campaign in the form of a public statement.

"Ten days ago, the four Richardson appointees on the state board of education voted to reject the appointments of such splendidly equipped men as William John Cooper and A. B. Anderson to two important teachers' college presidencies," the statement said.

"C. A. Storke, the official spokesman for the Richardson members in teachers' college matters, declared openly that the board did not question the professional qualifications of these men, that rejection was due solely to the fact that they were not in step politically with the governor."

"I have waited 10 days for the governor to disavow the outstanding admission of Storke, but he still stands mute. It is now evident that the governor's war on education is to continue with no quarter for any school man or woman who does not admit political allegiance to Governor Richardson."

After citing several instances "showing the governor's contempt for education," Wood declares that the issue in the present campaign is whether the people of California will give Friend W. Richardson four years more to continue his attempt to "run the progressive school system and reduce the school people to abject political vassalage."

OBITUARY

E. Lisle Sumner

Hearts of countless friends were saddened by the untimely death of E. Lisle Sumner, in Pasadena, Wednesday, July 21, and the love and respect in which he was held, as attested by the massed blossoms and the many friends in the Smith and Tutthill chapel Friday afternoon, when the final rites were held at 2 o'clock.

Favorite hymns of Mr. Sumner—which he had marked in his own hymnal—were softly played by Mrs. W. B. Snodgrass, organist, including Tompkins' "Crossing the Bar," were sung, and in reverent tones, a brief outline of the life of the young man was read by his pastor, the Rev. H. G. Burgess, of the Richland Avenue Methodist Episcopal church.

"Almighty God may stamp nobility upon the brow of man, but His reaper pauses not," he said slowly, continuing with the words, "Lisle Sumner has gone before his life work was completed—gone before the allotted span of life had run, but it was God's will, and the sands of his hour glass suddenly ceased to function and he passed to that great unknown."

"His record was one of unselfish devotion and no sunset fell upon a day mis-spent; no word was ever spoken that was tainted with callous bitterness or malice. His was a nature of considerate regard, loving kindness, true fidelity and honor."

"Lisle Sumner was a perfect lover. He loved his home, his people, his friends. All the world loves a lover. The world's architectural monument to love is the Taj Mahal, at Agra, in India, where Shah Jehan built the expression of his heart's love for his favorite wife. It has been called a dream in marble."

"The world's greatest love poem is 'In Memoriam,' in which Tennyson poured out his heart-break at the loss of his friend, Arthur Hallam. The world classic of love is found in the New Testament—'Though I speak with the tongues of men and angels and have not love, I am as sounding brass or tinkling cymbal.'"

"Love is God-like and eternal. Our greatest word about God is 'God is love,' the most wonderful message that has come to us is 'God loves us,' the most subtle experience of which man is capable is to be able to say, 'He loved me and gave Himself for me.'"

"Oh love that will not let me go. I rest my weary soul in Thee. I give Thee back the life I owe. That in thy ocean depths, its flow May richer, fuller be."

Mr. Sumner is survived by his wife, Mrs. Zoe Sumner, his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Sumner and Miss Nelle Sumner, 410 West First street.

Otis B. Bridgford

After an illness extending over a period of several months, but which became acute only a few weeks ago, Otis B. Bridgford, prominent citizen of Santa Ana since his early manhood, was called by death on Thursday, July 22, the funeral services being held in the Smith and Tutthill chapel, on Friday, July 23.

Mr. Bridgford was the eldest son of John R. and Verucia Bridgford and was born in Monroe county, Mo., March 22, 1869. He came with his parents to California in 1877 and to Santa Ana in October, 1887. Here he married Miss Sarah A. Hickey, in 1903. He was prominent in all community activities and was one of the county's leading ranchers. His home was at 1455 South McClay street.

During the last two or three years, he had undergone several operations, hoping to benefit his health, and returned to the hospital last week with the intention of submitting to another, if it were deemed advisable, but death intervened.

He was a faithful member of the Men's Bible class of the First Christian church, and funeral services were conducted by his pastor, the Rev. P. T. Porter. Burial was made in Fairhaven cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bridgford; his father, J. R. Bridgford; two brothers and one sister, C. C. Bridgford, of Modesto, who was with him for the two weeks prior to his death; K. K. Bridgford, of Stockton, who, with his family, arrived for the final services, and Mrs. C. E. Price, of this city.

Mrs. Montgomery Ward Succumbs

CHICAGO, July 27.—Mrs. A. Montgomery Ward, widow of the pioneer Chicago mail order merchant, died at her home here yesterday. Mrs. Ward, stricken on the train while coming here from California, was taken from the train Sunday in a serious condition, from which she never rallied. Excess heat was believed to have been the cause of the death of the 70-year-old woman.

RICHARDSON'S DAM LETHARGY TOLD BY SWING

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—A definite denial that Governor Richardson or any California state engineer acting under his direction had ever attended any congressional hearings at Washington on the Boulder dam and all-American canal project was issued upon his arrival here by Congressman Phil D. Swing, of San Diego, one of the authors of the federal Colorado river development plan.

Congressman Swing, in an interview, declared that the governor's "recent suggestion for a gravity aqueduct was intended only to cause confusion and to hinder the passage of the Swing-Johnson bill during the December session of congress." He also declared Governor Richardson to be an outspoken enemy of the federal plan that has been approved by President Coolidge, Secretary Hoover and Secretary Work.

"I don't know of a thing that Governor Richardson did," Swing said, "that was helpful in advancing the cause of the Boulder dam project at Washington. The governor of every other state in the Colorado river basin has taken a leading part in seeing to it that his state was actively and officially represented at Washington in this matter; sometimes by the attorney general and sometimes by the governor himself."

Conspicuous by Absence
"During the entire time that the battle was being waged in Washington in behalf of this great project, Governor Richardson and his official family were conspicuous by their absence, notwithstanding that California is more vitally concerned than any other state."

"The governor, in a recent statement, which has been given wide publicity makes the claim 'at my request the late state engineer, McClure, attended the congressional hearings at Washington.' That statement is untrue. Printed reports of all hearings before the house and senate committees are available and I challenge anyone to point out where Mr. McClure, or anyone else representing the governor of this state, ever appeared and said a word in behalf of the project. I, myself, attended every hearing before the house and senate committees held at Washington on the Colorado river matter, and know that McClure was not present."

"The truth is that Governor Richardson's ignorance, indifference and at times active hostility to the Colorado river program, embodied in the Swing-Johnson bill, has in the past seriously embarrassed the friends of the project and handicapped the work in its behalf. His sudden activity at this time is not impressive."

Quietly at Work
"In his recent statement, the governor says the state engineering department has been quietly working under my supervision to determine the most economic plan for storage of Colorado river water and means for Colorado river and the development of the largest amount of incidental power possible."

"But all of this has already been most painstakingly worked out in minutest detail by the government engineers, and their plans and recommendations have been embodied in the Swing-Johnson bill, which has the approval of President Coolidge, Secretary Work and Secretary Hoover."

"The governor must be doing one of two things. Either his 'plan' is to be the same as that which is already before congress, or it is to be something different. If it is the same, the state money is being wasted by the governor to duplicate work that has already been thoroughly and completely done by government engineers. But if it is different, then the state engineer activities along the lines indicated can only create conflict and confusion and make increasingly difficult the passage of the Swing-Johnson bill at the next session of congress."

TWO MURDERERS ASK FOR PAROLES

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—Two prisoners, serving life terms for first degree murder, Thomas O. Young, of San Francisco, and James Marvin, of Sacramento, were among the petitioners for parole announced by Folsom state prison for the hearing by the state board of prison directors at their meeting August 13 and 14.

Among the other applicants were the following:

IMPORTANCE OF REFORESTATION IS EMPHASIZED

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The importance of reforestation in California is stressed by W. B. Greeley, chief of the U. S. forest service, in a bulletin on the subject just issued. "The problem of keeping California's forest productive," says Greeley, "is not merely a local problem; it is a national problem. California ships large quantities of lumber to the state east of the Mississippi river. The federal government is eager to help timberlands growing timber and is making good progress in working out co-operative plans of forest fire protection with the state and landowners. The forest service has tremendous faith in the commercial promise of timber growing in the California pine forests, where rate of growth is not surpassed by any other forests except the redwood and the Douglas fir. They should be kept perpetually productive for the benefit of the whole nation."

It is stated that the greatest menace to the California reforestation is the destructive methods employed in many instances by loggers. The high lead logging method, it is said, is especially bad, as the logs are drawn by overhead cables operated by powerful engines at great speed over the cut-over land, uproot or break down most of the smaller trees that would form the nucleus for a new forest. Fire ranks next as the great foe to reforestation.

The service advocates that owners of private timber land cut only the mature trees and preserve the young trees, and that adequate protection against fire be given.

All speculation as to possible 1928 candidates for the Republican presidential nomination include the name of Speaker of the House Nicholas Longworth. This mention perhaps arouses more interest in social circles than in political circles, as the election of Mr. Longworth would mean the elevation to the post of first lady of the land of the former Alice Roosevelt, whose girlhood days were spent in the White House and whose marriage there to Mr. Longworth was one of the interesting events of the Roosevelt administration. Mrs. Longworth is always prominent in Washington social events, her outstanding personality and background of many years in the center of political events in the capital making her an interesting figure. As mistress of the White House, it is believed she would make it the real center of social activity in the capital to a greater extent than it has been for years. Mrs. Longworth also is a keen student of politics and missed very few of the senate and house debates this last session. Her political "sense" would add to the qualities which makes her quite different from the ordinary office holder's wife.

Due to the increased shipment of Pacific coast products to the Atlantic and Gulf coasts, cargo carried by American ships through the Panama canal shows a big increase for the first quarter of 1926. The volume of eastbound tonnage was 1,840,000 tons, which is 320,000 tons in excess of the similar movement in the first quarter of 1925. Oil shipments are accounted for a considerable amount of the increase, most of this going to the north Atlantic district. The west-bound tonnage through the canal to Pacific coast ports, on the other hand, showed a decrease of 100,000 tons from the previous period for 1925.

The interstate commerce commission has just announced its decision in the case of Hansen-Peterson company, a fruit concern, of Virginia, Minn., against the Santa Fe railroad, in which the rates charged by the railroad on carload lots of peaches and grapes, from California points is found to be unreasonable. The commission found that for interior points in Minnesota the railroad was charging higher rates for California than to Duluth and other main terminals. It stated that the rates charged are unreasonable and has issued an order that, after Sept. 1, 1926, these rates must be reduced to the same level as the rate to Duluth. The rate charged to Virginia was $1.99 per hundred and to Duluth $1.73.

Ernest W. Camp, director of the division of customs of the treasury department, is now on the west coast making a survey of conditions in the customs department. He will visit and inspect all of the west coast offices, starting at Los Angeles and going then to San Francisco, Portland and Seattle.

OLD PAPERS OF LINCOLN TO BE OPENED IN 1947

WASHINGTON, July 27.—A large collection of Lincoln letters, of great historical importance, now sealed and under lock in the library of congress, will be opened for inspection 21 years hence, or on July 26, 1947, as a result of the death, yesterday, at Manchester, Vt., of Robert Todd Lincoln, last surviving son of President Abraham Lincoln.

More than 10,000 letters comprise the collection, which has been carefully put away in six large packing cases for safe keeping in the manuscript division of the library to which the papers constituting this great historical mine were delivered by Robert T. Lincoln about five years ago. Several years after placing the collection in the library, Mr. Lincoln exacted an agreement in which he presented the collection to the government of the United States to be deposited in the library and kept there under lock and key.

Under the terms of this agreement, the collection is to be kept secret, without access to historians or others, until July 26, 1947.

The collection comprises letters to and from President Lincoln, also drafts of a number of state papers, also some pamphlets and newspaper clippings which belonged to President Lincoln and were part of his own personal correspondence file.

Most of the letters by Lincoln himself are contained in the two-volume separate addition to the Life of Lincoln, written by John Hay, former secretary of state, and John G. Nicolay, private secretary to Mr. Lincoln when he was president.

The real value of the collection, from the standpoint of the historian of the future, is to be found in the letters, all originals—from others to Lincoln, from members of his cabinet, generals in the field, and many of the great men of the day.

The collection was, for a long time, stored in the offices of the Pullman company in Chicago.

MORE MYSTERY IN 'PRESIDENT' STORY

SOUTH BEND, Ind., July 27.—Rumors emanating from Santa Ana, Calif., that the Studebaker corporation of America had sponsored a pre-season campaign to create interest in the re-election of President Coolidge for a third term were characterized as "ridiculous" by officials of the corporation here today. The rumor was started, it is understood here, by a statement in Santa Ana, over the Studebaker signature that "Henry Clay said he would rather be right than president—the president is both."

Except to deny any political aspect of the statement, Studebaker officials declined to comment upon the statement.

29 1/2 miles TO THE GALLON on trip to San Diego, made under ordinary driving conditions.....

While making a business trip from Long Beach, to San Diego, J. B. Putman driving a Chrysler Roadster, decided to test the mileage qualities of Macmillan gasoline. Draining his tank at the Pruitt Service Station, he refilled it with Macmillan. Accompanied by W. L. Pruitt, owner of the service station, as an observer travelling at an ordinary driving speed, making the usual starts and stops that a business trip would necessitate, he averaged 29 1/2 miles to the gallon.

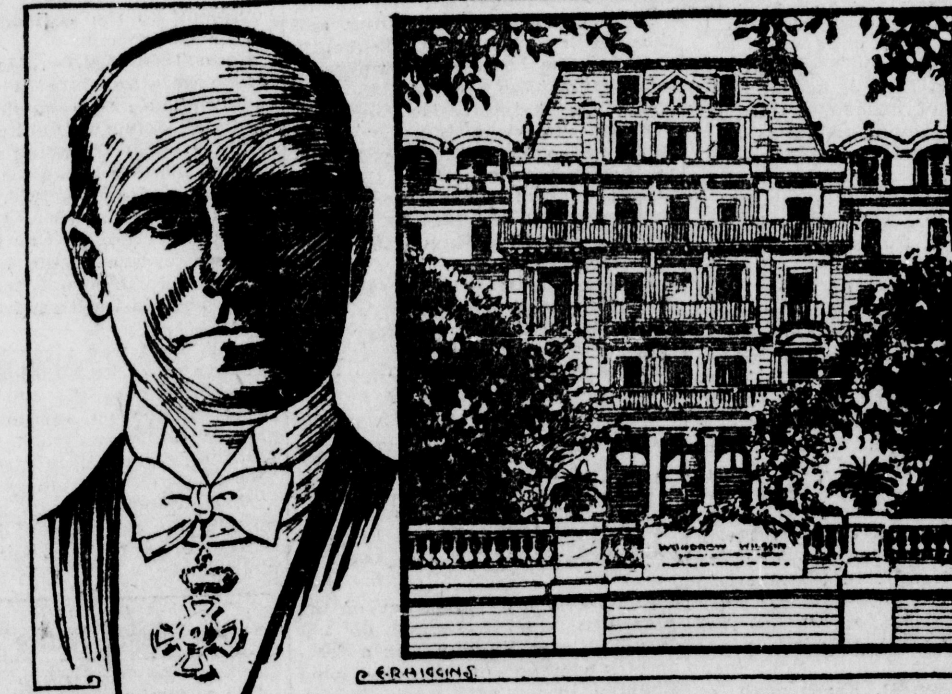

"It's the best gasoline I have ever used." That's what he told Mr. Pruitt, when he found there was an increase in his mileage over that of other gasoline he had been using.

Macmillan is the Mileage gasoline. The results of Mr. Putman's trip is but one of the many surprising mileage records that are being made every day on this carefully refined gasoline. The money these careful motorists save by using Macmillan gasoline helps in reducing the other costs of motor operation.

How about you? Can you be proud of the saving you make in your motor car operation?

JUNIOR DIVISION DELAYS BALLOT ON AFFILIATION WITH U. S. BODY

Organization in Favor of Proposal to Inaugurate Daylight Saving in State

REMOVAL OF TREES STARTS DISCUSSION

Members' Views Aired in Regard to Proposal for Widening of South Main

Members of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, meeting at Kerner's cafe last night, endorsed the proposal to inaugurate daylight saving in California, voted to adopt the budget plan of financing, and decided to postpone until the next meeting a final vote upon proposed affiliation with the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Discussion of a proposed city ordinance, which, it was said, would provide for the removal of all trees from the curb of South Main street, in order to widen the thoroughfare, resulted in a committee being named to collect information concerning the project and to report back to the organization at the next meeting.

Each of the subjects brought up for consideration resulted in considerable airing of views, particularly so in regard to the tree removal program. President Mason Young broached the subject and found the opinion of the membership divided.

Owners Favor Project
Jack Wallace, a South Main street property owner, said that the majority of the owners of frontage on the street had gone on record as being in favor of the project, and that it had been considered advisable by the city council. Dean Collier and Harry Westover could not agree with Wallace that it was necessary to dig up the trees, some of which were described as being 40 years old.

The affiliation with the national junior chamber of commerce organization also was a topic for considerable discussion, even though it was not brought to a vote. Everett Grubb, vice president of the Los Angeles junior chamber, and Bob Coker, of San Diego, a member of the national organization's board of directors, explained the advantages to be had through affiliation. However, because of the fact that a number of the leading members on both sides of the question were not present, the membership voted to delay final action.

Mock Trial Is Held
The entertainment of the evening was provided in the trial of S. A. McSlacker for the killing of Clive Conscience. The role of the hide-bound and ancient McSlacker, who appeared in shackles, was essayed by Bruce Switzer. Milburn Harvey was the judge, Franklin West, chief prosecutor, and Fred Forgy, chief defense counsel. Jesse Elliott was bailiff. Cyrus Featherly was Clive Duty, the complaining witness. Flaming Youth, otherwise M. S. Robinson, Heza Coupon Clipper, otherwise Ben Warner, and several other "witnesses" were heard. The August court, made constant use of an improvised cuspidor in delivering his official rulings.

Charles Swanner was named foreman of the jury, which returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the complaint. McSlacker was sentenced to be taken over the mouth of Orange County Harbor in a

DARING COWBOYS OF SOUTHWEST RISK LIVES IN BULLDOGGING STEERS AT PRESCOTT, ARIZ.

The Spanish toreador, who sticks a bull with a little spear, is a romantic fellow, no doubt—but he doesn't begin to run the risk American cowboys take. Look at these two pictures, taken at the Prescott, Ariz., Frontier Days celebration. Above, a cowboy has just leaped from his horse, seized a steer by the horns and gone to the ground with it—the time-honored, dangerous sport of "bulldozing." Below, a cowboy is shown keeping his precarious position on the back of a bucking steer.

CARELESS DRIVER MENACE REVEALED

SACRAMENTO, July 27.—The menace of careless driving by California motorists was shown in the report of Will H. Marsh, of the division of motor vehicles, revealing a total of 691 persons killed or maimed by the automobile in the state during the first six months of 1926.

Of the 691 persons who met death beneath the wheels of the speeder or reckless driver, 50 were "hit-and-run" victims, the report showed. A veritable army of maimed and crippled is shown to have been created by smashups, collisions, and other accidents, 90 per cent of which were unnecessary, according to Marsh. Of the 6282 reported hurt, 1968 were classified as "seriously injured or crippled."

Larger cities showed the greater number of accidents. Los Angeles and San Francisco were credited with 153 deaths.

New Cemetery for Emperors Selected

TOKIO, July 27.—A new burial ground for the future emperors of Japan has been chosen by the privy council, 3500 acres of land at the foot of Mount Takao in the suburbs of Tokyo having been designated. At present there are 119 graves of emperors of Japan, all of them being situated in the Kwansei district and in the western part of the main island. Kyoto has 88 imperial mausoleums, Mara 31 and Osaka 16.

FAN DISTRIBUTION HALTED BY POLICE

Police yesterday stopped the De Luxe Printers, Santa Ana, from distributing a number of advertising fans, bearing the picture of a certain political candidate, throughout the residential district of the city.

Distribution of the fans was said by Chief of Police Claude Rogers to be in violation of a city ordinance to the effect that no advertising matter shall be tacked on posts or distributed about the city.

Several fans were picked up by officers at the front doors of vacant houses, it was said. Rogers said today that the distribution of the fans, in his opinion, was the same as distributing handbills or other advertising matter about the city, so, when a complaint was received at the police station, he dispatched an officer to terminate the distribution. No arrests were made.

Church to Honor Latest of Saints

ROME, July 27.—Saint Teresa of the Bambin Jesu, the latest of the saints, whose canonization took place only last year, is to have a church built and dedicated to her honor in the Sebastiani quarter of Rome. Saint Teresa is the youngest saint of the century, and is the object of great honor and devotion among French Catholics, having been born at Lisieux, France.

WOMAN FEARS APOPLEXY, SO DRINKS POISON

Mrs. Catherine Pitts, 69, 1038 West Walnut street, mother of Louis Peterson, former police officer, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by drinking a quantity of lye administered by her own hands, according to a verdict reached by a coroner's jury late yesterday, at the Winbiger Mission Funeral home.

Mrs. Pitts was found lying on the floor of a room in her home, by Peterson, who hurriedly summoned an ambulance and a physician. The woman was said to have been dying at the time. She was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where she succumbed a half hour later, without regaining consciousness.

A note, written by Mrs. Pitts just prior to the time when she swallowed the poison, was addressed to the son and asked his forgiveness for her act and requested that her body be cremated, according to information obtained by Coroner Charles D. Brown.

It was reported to the coroner that Mrs. Pitts had been in poor health for some time. She suffered a stroke of apoplexy several months ago, and was fearful of another stroke, it was said.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m., tomorrow, from the Winbiger Mission Funeral home. The body will be taken to Los Angeles for cremation.

REMOVAL OF SIGN LEADS TO KILLING

GRAND MARAIS, Minn., July 27.—A dispute over the removal of a farmer's "For Sale" sign from a state road right-of-way is believed to have led to the fatal shooting of two highway patrolmen near here. The bodies of Sigurd Ide, 30 years old, and Alvin Tofte, 21, Ide's hands still clutching the sign they had been ordered to remove, were found at the roadside by a passing tourist.

State laws forbid erection of any signs other than state road markers on the right-of-way. Several times recently John Westblade, 50-year-old bachelor farmer, had placed a signboard near the road, advertising his farm for sale. Each time the patrolmen had removed it. Officers seeking Westblade after the killings found his cabin burned to the ground and several fruit trees cut down. Westblade was missing.

GLACIER PRESERVES FOREST IN ALASKA

JUNEAU, Alaska, July 27.—Discovery on the north side of Mendenhall glacier near Juneau of remains of an interglacial forest was announced here Wednesday by the forest service of the United States department of agriculture. An interglacial forest is one which grew between two glacial eras. Being covered over by the second glacier, it is sometimes preserved for centuries.

The one near Juneau was found by Charles H. Flory of Juneau, a district forester, and M. L. Merritt of Juneau, an assistant forester.

'BLONDES' BOOK STILL LEADING S. A. FAVORITES

'Private Life of Helen of Troy' and 'Etiquette' Are Much in Popular Choice

Who would think that, of all the books written and published this year, the one to be most popular with Santa Anans about to leave on vacations would be "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," by Anita Loos, with "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," by Erskine, running a close second?

According to librarians and book store managers, these books are the ones most often sought by those who desire to take some good book with them to read on their vacations.

It is said that the stories are rather naughty. Perhaps that is the reason many prefer to take them out of Santa Ana to read. There is proof that the books are generally asked for in an awed whisper, as though the would-be reader were trying to decide whether the reading of the book would condemn him to everlasting torment.

Learn Spaghetti Juggling
Another book that has been proving popular with vacationists is "Etiquette," by Emily Post. There is no doubt that one's vacation is an ideal time in which to learn about the proper way to handle asparagus, spaghetti and other unruly foods.

According to Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian at the city library, the book circulation this summer has been unusually good. A greater number of mystery and western stories are taken out in summer than in winter, she said. Many travel and sociology books are being taken out on vacation privileges. These books generally are taken out by persons who seem unable of find time to read them during the winter.

Children are reading a larger number of books than they read during the winter, probably because parental authority is less strict now that the children have definitely made or not made their grades in school, the librarian said.

At the bookstores, it was found that general fiction is the most popular, as very little non-fiction is sold during the summer months. The fiction is cheap fiction, according to Robert Brown of the Santa Ana Book store.

Bridge Text Is Popular
Mr. Brown said that "Auction Bridge Complete" by Milton C. Work has been a very good seller. This same book had a tremendous run in Los Angeles when in one book store more copies were sold than were sold in all book stores in New York combined. Either people in California know less about bridge or it is played more here than in the east is a question for date, Brown thinks.

Among the books recommended to pass a pleasant afternoon are "The Man Nobody Knows," Bruce Barton; "Auction Bridge Complete," Milton C. Work; "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," George A. Dorsey; "Fix Bayonets," John W. Thompson; "The Light of Faith and Other Poems," Edgar A. Guest; "The Intimate Papers of Colonel House," "When We Were Very Young," A. A. Milne; "Dollars on the Left," Christopher Morley; "Unchanging Quest," Sir Philip Gibbs; "Beau Geste," Capt. P. C. Wren; "The Black Flemings," Kathleen Norris; "The Blue Window," Temple Bailey; "Hangman's House," Donn Byrne, and "The Private Life of Helen of Troy," John Erskine.

Movie Magazines Popular
Magazines are also having a good run now, it is stated by magazine vendors. "American," "Cosmopolitan," "Western Stories" and "Good Housekeeping" always are popular with vacationists. Movie magazines are best sellers the year round, more being sold in summer than in winter.

HERE'S GIRL WHO INSISTS THAW WANTED TO WED HER

Miss Forrest Walsh, 19, of Los Angeles—according to reports from Winchester, Va.—traveled 3000 miles with her mother and brother to marry Harry K. Thaw, eccentric millionaire, in answer to what she says was a proposal by mail. When she reached his home, she says, servants told her he was out of the country.

COUNCILMEN AND PROPERTY OWNERS VOICE OPINIONS ON PROPOSED TREE DESTRUCTION

By ARVID GILMOUNT

The controversy over the proposed widening of South Main street is becoming at least city-wide, if not county-wide. Many people having no direct interest in the effect on property on South Main street are becoming not only interested but deeply concerned—especially those who love trees and who do not believe there is any necessity at this time for widening South Main street.

Main street, in a sense, belongs to the entire city, to the entire county, to the entire state and to the entire nation. It is a part of a great state highway, a main artery of travel, used by people from all parts of the state and all parts of the nation.

Many questions, some of them pertinent and some of them not, are being asked. The question that presents itself most frequently is:

What is the reason, from the standpoint of the city council, for the proposed widening of South Main street?

And the collateral questions came thick and fast: Does the council feel under moral obligation to comply with the petition for the widening of this street—a petition participated in only by the property owners along the street? Is the council under legal obligation to comply with the petition? How large a majority of property owners or frontage would legally estop the council in its proceedings to widen the street?

The question of most insistence and feeling is:

What is the real reason for the desire on the part of apparently a majority of property owners along the street for the proposed widening? And if that question be answered by the reply that the proposed widening, in the opinion of the property owners, will advance the value of their property, then the question arises: What good reasons can be advanced, over and above those of a monetary nature, respecting the property abutting on the street—that good reasons of a general and city-wide nature can be advanced in favor of the proposed widening?

The question constantly recurs: Is not the general city-wide interest in the matter of greater importance than that of the property owners along the street itself? Another point that is made by the opponents of the proposed widening may be put in this form of question:

Are not those property owners having their homes along South Main street and their parking places ornamented with beautiful trees—not these property owners entitled to more consideration than those owning vacant lots along the street?

If this question is answered—as it frequently is—by the statement that legally one foot of property is just as good as another, the question then arises: Has the city council no discretion in the matter, which will enable it to base its decision on moral rights as well as on legal rights?

With instructions to try to find the true answers to these questions, and to treat the whole subject in a thoroughly unbiased and non-partisan spirit, I first interviewed Mayor Frank Purinton in an endeavor to get the city council's point of view.

Acted on Petition
Before going into the history of the proceedings, Mayor Purinton took pains to point out that the city council did not take the initiative in the proposed widening of the street, but simply acted in response to a petition signed by a majority of property owners. Believing that this petition represented the sentiments and desire of its signers, the city council directed the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications, the mayor explained.

Tracing the history of the proceedings, Mayor Purinton pointed out that the city council had no direct interest in the effect on property on South Main street are becoming not only interested but deeply concerned—especially those who love trees and who do not believe there is any necessity at this time for widening South Main street.

CHAMBER MEN WILL MEET TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR HOSPITAL

Supervisors May Be Asked To Approve Money For Proposed Building

PHYSICIANS WILL ATTEND SESSION

Pointed Out That Half of Sum Could Be Arranged In This Year's Budget

George A. Raymer, secretary of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, today had completed notifying directors of the various chambers of commerce of Orange county of the meeting to be held in the chapel of the county hospital at 7 o'clock Friday night, for a conference on the proposed construction, by the county, of a general hospital on county property and near the present county hospital.

Physicians of the county also have been invited to be present to join in the discussions. As tentatively outlined, it is planned to request the board of supervisors to make an appropriation of $200,000 for construction of the building and for its proper equipment.

Bond Issue Discussed
At the meeting of the directors of the Santa Ana chamber last Thursday, a committee from the Orange County Medical association was present for discussion of a plan for building a general hospital under a bond issue.

When it was pointed out that it might be possible to construct the building by appropriation of the supervisors, the plans were changed and arrangements made for the Friday conference.

The statement was made that if the supervisors looked with favor upon the project, an appropriation of $100,000 could be arranged in this year's budget and a second appropriation, of the same amount, the following year. It was suggested that construction work could start before next July, with completion in the following fiscal year.

It may be necessary to secure an enabling act by the state legislature to make the project feasible as a county institution. It is proposed to place control of the institution in the hands of a body of trustees, composed of men not identified with the medical profession.

Location Good One
In advancing the project of a general county hospital on the county farm, physicians said that the location was central in the county and that the hospital would be available to all communities.

The point was emphasized that, in a sense, it is an obligation of the county to provide adequate hospital facilities for care of the sick of the county. Reference was made to the failure of efforts to float a private hospital enterprise in Santa Ana, and stress was laid on the possibility of small private hospitals springing up in various sections of the county, with inadequate facilities.

According to informal discussions, it would be the plan for the new hospital to provide for charity cases and for first class hospital service for those patients who are financially able to pay the costs of such services.

It is proposed to erect a plant with 100 beds, which is believed to be ample for the present needs of the county.

small canoe and, if he lived through that experience, to be fed to sword fish at a point beyond.

L. R. Crawford, who originated the McSlacker idea, pointed out that, while the proceedings were of a humorous nature, they, nevertheless, contained a lesson for every city-loving resident as regards his duty along civic lines.

City Planner Speaks
The principal address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Carol Aronovitch, consultant of the city planning board. He asked for the support of the junior chamber in co-operating to secure an adequate city plan for Santa Ana. The city planning consultant also was called upon to express his opinion concerning the removal of the trees on South Main street. If the thoroughfare is to become a strictly business street, he said, it was his off-hand opinion that the trees should be sacrificed. If the street is to remain a residential avenue, he thought that a plan might be worked out whereby some of the trees might be saved and some replanting be done.

In connection with the trees, Arthur Blanding, connected with a local nursery, said that most of the offending trees were black acacias, of short life and of no great beauty. The meeting was preceded by an Elateddoff, largely under the direction of Crawford, who played the piano for the numerous and sundry songs rendered. Raymond Miles sang a solo, accompanied by Crawford. Jack Finn was named chairman of the entertainment committee for the next meeting.

HUSBANDS RULE IN FRENCH HOUSEHOLD

PARIS, July 27.—When one man says that Paris is the paradise for women, it does not always mean the married ones. In fact, recent demonstrations against the old Code Napoleon seem to show that the single one has really the biggest shares of the Parisian paradise.

Once married, the French woman belongs, soul and body, to her husband. He is her lord and master, having full direction over what is done in the household as well as the upbringing of the children. If the circumstances make the wife feel she must leave, she is obliged to leave everything behind. Nothing which she might have brought to her new home belongs to her. She must leave with only the clothes on her back.

But perhaps the hardest lump to swallow is the matter of checks and money. Unless madame has a profession of her own, she can have no bank account in her own name. All her funds remain under the thumb of her husband and unless she has taken particular care in making out a marriage contract, she is likely to see her dowry spent as her husband pleases.

According to the law of July 13, 1907, a married woman exercising any profession has the right to place her money in a bank and draw it out at will, but in reality, almost no establishment will open an account for a woman without the written authority from her husband, and this on legal paper drawn up by a notary. Much red tape is attached to the process. The marriage certificate of course must be produced and the same formalities gone through with every year at the same period.

One can really understand why so many French women finish by sighing:

"I'm not in such a hurry for my political rights, but please give me my civil ones as soon as possible."

WIDENING OF MAIN STREET IS DISCUSSED

lief that the widening of South Main street is as much of a community undertaking as it is a local project, necessitated by the growth and development of the harbor section and resulting increase in volume of travel.

City Engineer Nat Neff did not care to comment on the proceedings. He limited himself to the statement that he is an appointed official, employed to carry out the instructions of the council. He suggested, however, that the views of Carol Aronovitch, expert city planner, now engaged by the city, be obtained on the proposed undertaking.

Dr. Carol Aronovitch said that he had not gone far enough into his survey to speak intelligently on the matter of widening Main street.

"I believe, however," he said, "that the business district of the city has no room for trees. I am a great lover of trees and believe that they should be preserved if possible, but the place for trees is in the residential district. Where the business district should start and where it should end has not been determined as yet by my survey. This will not be known until we have solved the zoning problem, a very vital part of city planning."

Decidedly In Opposition

Decided opposition to the proposed widening and removal of the trees was voiced by Mrs. W. C. May, 315 South Main street, speaking for her husband, one of the principal opponents, now away on a vacation, she said that the improvement as proposed would depreciate property values and remove the residential atmosphere without making it business property. It will result in a nondescript proposition, neither residence nor business property. She asserted that the proposed widening is premature for the purpose of providing for business expansion. As a matter of fact, she explained, it will disfigure the city's main thoroughfare and detract from the general beauty of the community.

"Tourists and strangers who visit it here are impressed with the beauty of our city, many claiming that it is the ideal residence city in the entire Southland. Why turn our shaded lanes into mere stone paths, thus depriving ourselves of an asset which is attracting visitors and home-seekers?" she queried.

Fails to See Advantage

Equally emphatic in her disapproval of the project was Mrs. E. E. Keech, who deplored the proposed removal of the trees.

"I fail to see any advantage of widening South Main for about 10 blocks if the object is to facilitate the flow of traffic," she observed.

Dr. Roy S. Horton, listed among property owners who favor the project, limited himself to saying that he was willing to abide by the decision of the city trustees, who only had carried out the wishes of the property owners as set forth in a majority petition.

Answering the implied criticism directed against the city council because of its stand on the Main street issue, Stanley Goode, a member of the city council, serving as street commissioner, made the following statement:

"Many persons labor under the impression that the controversy over the South Main street widening is a personal matter with the city council or some of its members. As a matter of fact, none of the city trustees owns property on South Main. The steps taken by the council have been prompted by no other desire than to serve the best interests of the community."

Lover of Trees
"As regards trees, I am as much a lover of trees and natural beauty as anyone else in Santa Ana. I am even willing to concede that our streets, adorned by beautiful homes and shaded by ornamental trees, constitute our main attraction to visitors and home-seekers.

"But if we do not take advantage of the present opportunity to widen our main thoroughfare, we will be in the same position as other cities now suffering from congested traffic lanes. With the development of Southern California, there is every reason to believe that Santa Ana will become a large city. We might as well prepare for it now and save millions for future taxpayers."

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY

WILDCAT WELL A H. B. FLOWS 700 BARRELS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 27.—Southern California's petroleum industry was given a distinct surprise yesterday with the report of the apparent discovery by the California Petroleum Corporation of an entirely new and rich oil district northwest of Huntington Beach.

The California Petroleum's wildcat well on the Buck ranch, located about one and one-half miles north of the nearest outpost well in the old Huntington Beach field, began flowing at an estimated rate of 700 barrels a day, maintaining this rate of production for about four hours.

Officials of the California Petroleum yesterday confirmed the flow, but refused to make any estimate of the output, or to make any comment, other than that the well appeared to have an excellent chance to make a producer. They reported that tubing is being run into the well to make a definite production test.

California Petroleum corporation holds approximately 700 acres in the immediate vicinity of the Buck well. The property on which the well is located was taken over from King C. Gillette several months ago, after Gillette had built a derrick, and made other preparations to drill the well. The project has not attracted much attention among oil men in general because of the prevailing belief that it was not in likely territory.

If the Buck well performs as well during the production test as its preliminary indications indicate, it will mean the opening of an entirely new field in the Huntington Beach district.

[SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO]

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, July 27.—The daily vacation Bible school closed today after a successful session. On Thursday evening, an exhibition of work done by the children was held at the church. The program included Bible drills and verses, a missionary play and songs. On Friday, the children were entertained at a picnic at Capistrano Beach. There were 30 children enrolled in the school, which was supervised by Miss Ruth McNinch, principal, and Mrs. Clayton Landreth and Miss Mildred Congdon, assistants.

Miss McNinch, Mrs. Landreth and Miss Congdon were honor guests at a supper at the hot springs Saturday night, given by the parents of the school children.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Crookshank and Mrs. Martha Madden, of Modesto, and Mr. and Mrs. James Sleeper, of Santa Ana, were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh McNinch Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cook spent the week-end in Santa Ana. Mrs. C. P. Ercarte and sister, Doris Grant, returned from Sacramento last week.

Miss Hazel Guilbert has returned from a month spent with Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Fink at Laverne. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Malcom and daughters, Barbara and Mary Emma; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Guilbert, Miss Hazel Guilbert, Master Myron and Miss Hazel Harrison spent Sunday in San Diego.

Mr. Burt Olet and Miss Sarah Lister spent Sunday with friends in Long Beach.

Gordon Beckley, of the Standard Oil company, has returned from San Diego, where he spent a two-weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Carol Hankey and children returned Friday evening from a shopping trip to Los Angeles.

J. L. Hunter has installed an overhead sprinkling system on his avocado ranch west of town.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Cook and sons, George and O. B., and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Riverside, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cook.

Miss Mary McHenry returned from Redondo Beach Sunday.

Miss McLaughlin spent Sunday at her parents home here.

Miss Mildred Congdon left Sunday evening for Los Angeles, where she is to visit at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, July 27.—Mrs. Clemence Melton, American teacher at the Baker Street school, is holding a summer day and night session. She is instructing classes in sewing and art. Mrs. Anna Ray is teaching English.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Murdick and son, Scott, and daughter, Mary Helen, have arrived from a two-week camping trip to Yosemite valley.

The Women's Christian Temperance union met this afternoon at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Blackmer. The county president, Mrs. Estelle Harper, of Garden Grove, was present.

Mrs. George Key, of Fullerton, visited her mother, Mrs. Margaret Strain, and her sister, Mrs. Herman Franks, of Woodland, on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bowers arrived home last week from a three months' trip by automobile, visiting relatives and friends in Nebraska and Iowa, covering about 6000 miles.

The Dorcas society of the Calvary church will meet with Mrs. F. Frutkin, of Rose drive, on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ziegenfuss, of Huntington Park, and Mrs. John Love, of Los Angeles, visited Mr. and Mrs. James Coho on Sunday. William Travers and son, William, spent Saturday afternoon and Sunday at their cottage at Newport Beach. Mrs. Travers was with them on Sunday afternoon.

S. A. Man Fined $50 at Newport On Booze Charge

NEWPORT BEACH, July 27.—J. G. Taylor, 32, a Santa Ana salesman, was fined $50 here yesterday by City Recorder W. A. Leonard, after he pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of liquor. According to arresting officers, Taylor had a pint of liquor in his possession when he was arrested.

C. H. Thomas, 19, of Cucamonga, and Kendall Morgan, 18, of Long Beach, were brought before Judge Leonard yesterday afternoon on charges of fighting and disturbing the peace. Thomas was fined $15, when he pleaded guilty to the charge, and Morgan posted $25 cash bail with Leonard and proceeded to appear in court at a date to be set later. He entered a plea of not guilty.

GETTY STARTS ON NEW H. B. PROJECT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 27.—George F. Getty Inc., is starting work on the new field in the west end of the city of Huntington Beach, and has spotted a location for a derrick almost directly across the street from the Wilshire Oil company's project.

The Wilshire appears to be having considerable trouble with its new well, which made an unsuccessful production test at 3000 feet several weeks ago. Better formations, which are the principal producing horizons in the Huntington Beach field.

The Superior Oil company's Jones well in the Huntington Beach district began to flow yesterday while the crew was working, according to field reports. The hole was drilled to 3165 feet when the flow started, and it lasted two hours before it was killed. According to observers, the yield showed a considerable percentage of oil, which apparently was of about 19 to 20-degree gravity.

BREA

BREA, July 27.—Surprising their many friends in this vicinity, Clyde Badgley and Miss Lois Everett, both of Fullerton, were quietly married in the Christian church parsonage in Brea, July 22, with the Rev. Ramsey Hunt, pastor of the church, officiating at the simple ceremony. Clyde is the youngest son of Mrs. Ida Badgley and his bride is the only daughter of Mrs. V. W. Russell, of Fullerton. The Russells were for several years residents of Brea. The young couple will make their home in Fullerton, where the groom is associated with the H. R. Grove automobile agency.

Mrs. Samuel J. Ferguson, 24, whose husband is an electrician employed on the Stearns lease of the Union Oil company, is reported as being very low at her home with heart trouble. A specialist has been called in from Los Angeles.

The Rev. J. J. Bell, of the Brea Baptist church, is at home again after a three weeks' vacation, most of which was spent visiting with old friends in Denver and other points in Colorado. The Rev. Bell will fill the pulpit of the Baptist church on August 1 in the series of union meetings being conducted by four of the congregations in the city.

Miss Warner, employed with the Birch Oil company north of this city, had the misfortune to fall when an embankment gave way beneath him and sprained the left ankle and leg quite badly. Mr. Warner has had to resort to crutches and will doubtless be off duty for some time.

Mrs. H. Bouey has returned to her home in Santa Ana, after a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Briggs at their home on South Madrona.

Ralph Stegeman is adding to his court on South Redwood by building another four-room modern cottage. When completed this will make the fifth house in the court.

After a delightful week on the sands near Huntington Beach, property the subject in tests and their cooking in the open, the 20 young women of the Christian Sunday school classes of Mrs. Jesse Gill and Mrs. Charles Reed, accompanied by their teachers, are at home again. With them in camp was a group of the smaller Camp Fire Girls under the care of Mrs. Florence Harvey, all of whom returned to Brea yesterday. Among the eight camp fire girls to enjoy this trip were Nancy Ford, Winifred Carbill, Dorothy Montgomery, Margaret Godfrey and Nina Busch.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, formerly of Anaheim, have purchased the T. E. Bird property on North Orange street and are now located there. Mr. Smith is making some changes and improvements to the property since his purchase of it. He is employed here with the Union Oil company.

Completing a pleasant visit of several days with the family of his brother, Frank Heckle, Mr. and Mrs. H. Heckle and son, Buster, have returned to their home in San Diego.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shaffer have returned from a visit of several days with friends and relatives in their old home town of Santa Paula.

The Rev. W. E. Spicer, formerly pastor of the Christian church in Brea, was a business visitor here Monday, coming down from their camp in the mountains north of San Dimas, where they are enjoying a pleasant two months' vacation before going to the Paso Robles Christian church pastorate.

C. M. Welstead, of Los Angeles, is the new man in charge of the Red Lantern theater here. Mr. Welstead takes the place of William Craig, who has had charge of the work for the past year or more and

THEATER IN ANAHEIM TO REOPEN SOON

ANAHEIM, July 27.—Plans for the re-opening of the Fairland theater, which has been closed under an agreement with another local show house for the past two years, were announced today by W. W. Whitson, prominent Santa Ana and Los Angeles capitalist and theater man.

The New Fairland, as the playhouse is to be known, will be reopened as a combined moving picture and vaudeville house and is to be equipped with the latest type of seating and projection facilities.

Mr. Whitson owns and operates Hunley's theater in Hollywood, the Red Lantern theater in Brea. His son, who will be associated with his father in the Anaheim show, owns and operates the Broadway theater in San Diego.

Mr. Whitson, senior, formerly owned and operated five theaters in San Diego besides a hotel and lumber yard and a planning mill. About three years ago he sold his theaters there but still devotes the major share of his time to the direction of his theatrical interests in the other cities. He expects to make Anaheim his home at least a portion of each year, he said.

The Superior Oil company's Jones well in the Huntington Beach district began to flow yesterday while the crew was working, according to field reports. The hole was drilled to 3165 feet when the flow started, and it lasted two hours before it was killed. MYSTERY OF ALIGATOR DISCOVERED IN SANTA ANA CANYON IS SOLVED

OLIVE, July 27.—When Dr. G. A. Bullard, 4163 Dalton avenue, Los Angeles, formerly a resident of this district, read a story of the finding of an alligator in Santa Ana canyon by John Adams, a Los Angeles policeman, he solved the mystery.

The alligator is an old friend of Dr. Bullard. It was revealed. Bullard turned the reptile loose in a secluded pool in the Santa Ana canyon in 1922.

According to reports from Los Angeles, Bullard owns the pet Alligator. He secured the alligator when attending a convention at New Orleans in 1922. The alligator was then about a foot long. Dr. Bullard brought the alligator home with him.

But Dr. Bullard's mother objected to having an alligator around the house, so one moonlight night, Dr. Bullard took his pet to the Santa Ana canyon and turned him loose in a pool that looked as if it had plenty of whatever alligators eat.

Bullard yesterday admitted that he had forgotten all about his pet "Al" until he saw stories in newspapers regarding its capture.

After Dr. Bullard had cleared up the mystery, he declared his intention of visiting the alligator to see if his old friend will remember him.

Another Long Beach resident, Dehman Kline, who was using only one arm, is alleged to have violated every known traffic rule in his wild dash in and out of heavy traffic on West Chapman avenue. He will appear Friday in court charged with reckless driving.

Others who are scheduled to face Ingle Friday morning are Charles R. Schiebaum, Compton, reckless driving, and Leota E. Martin, Huntington Park, speeding.

G. H. Strachman, Santa Ana, speeding, will appear Wednesday.

NATIONAL LEAGUE LEADERS IN REAL TEST

Billy Evans Says

A change of scenery often works wonders for a ball player. I have in mind the experience of Jacobson and Miller and "Bing" Miller of the St. Louis Browns.

Recently these two players figured in trades that won for themselves regular berths in the outfield. Before that they had been warming the bench as the result of batting slumps.

Connie Mack's desire to add Pitcher Howard Ehmke of the Boston Red Sox to his team, was responsible for Jacobson and Miller taking on new lease of life as far as batting was concerned.

Boston, willing to part with Ehmke, insisted that Connie Mack make some deal for Jacobson of St. Louis, so that he could be included in the deal. Manager Fohl of the Red Sox has always been strong for Jacobson.

Mack sent "Bing" Miller to St. Louis in exchange for Jacobson and then turned over Pitchers Harris and Heimach in addition to Jacobson for Ehmke.

Since joining their new clubs, both Jacobson and Miller have starred at the bat, added much strength to their respective teams and sent their swat marks well over the prized .300 figure.

The Boston Red Sox, by the way, now boast the best team that the city of culture has had since Harry Frazee busted up a winning combination by peddling a lot of his stars to New York.

In Shaner, Flagstead and Jacobson, Boston has the best outfield since that peerless combination of Lewis, Speaker and Hooper held sway.

Flagstead has developed into one of the best center-fielders in the game. He does everything well and is a hustler. He's a big favorite in Boston.

Jacobson plays the difficult sun field in right after the manner of Harry Hooper while Shaner in left is a great prospect.

When I first saw Shaner in spring training at New Orleans, he impressed me most favorably. A few weeks later he suffered a broken leg that kept him out of the game the greater part of the first half of the season.

Shaner still favors his leg and is not yet right. However, he has proved that he can field and throw and for a big fellow is fast. At the bat is where he has been most impressive.

In addition, Boston has finally brought together an infield that compares very favorably with most of the major league clubs.

During the tail-end days of the Boston Red Sox, one player has gone serenely on his way, doing his work in the best possible manner, yet never quite receiving the credit due him.

I mean First Baseman Phil Todd. The brilliant guardsman of the initial sack for the Boston Red Sox makes no fuss over his work and has none of the grandstand mannerisms that often win favor.

A master workman, he makes plays look easy, that a less clever man would turn into hard chances and much applause.

The Boston infielders alone know his true worth. He is a wonder at digging up the low ones or pulling down the wild heaves.

Todd is a fine ball player, the real nucleus of the new Red Sox team, who deserves far more praise than has been given him.

'EENY' WILCOX TOPS HURLERS OF CITY LOOP

Elwynne ("Eeny") Wilcox, pitcher for the champion F. C. Blauer Grocers, finished the Santa Ana City Indoor Baseball league season with a perfect percentage, according to figures for the full season compiled today. Wilcox started and finished eight games, winning all of them for a mark of 1000.

Tommy Hitt, who was forced to leave the Tiernans before the close of the race, was second. Hitt was beaten only once. Jimmy Mansfield of Lee's Fountain, beaten twice, came third.

Mansfield led in the strikeouts with 120. Johnson of the Fluors was next in this respect with 106, one ahead of Bergman of the Excelsiors.

Averages follow:

DE HATE TOUTED AS NEXT WELTER CHAMP

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Paul De Hate of Compton, meets his first real ring test tonight when he clashes with Oakland Jimmy Duffy, leading coast welterweight, in the main event at the Vernon coliseum.

The "pride of Compton" has defeated virtually every man he has opposed in the preliminary and semi-windup ranks. In his match with Duffy he will face the bitterest kind of competition and his immediate ring future may be decided by the outcome of the bout.

"Dutch" Meyers, De Hate's manager, insists that he has the next welterweight champion and that Duffy will last about three rounds before his younger opponent.

GRID JUGGERNAUT BACK HOME

Well, well, well! Here's "Red" Grange arriving back in his old "hum" town, Wheaton, Ill. where he will resume his activities on the town ice wagon for the rest of the summer. Grange, still a favorite with the ladies, is seen wearing the celebrated tropical hat about which the Wheaton pool-room boys had some things to say.

EXCELSIORS TO TEX MAY TAKE BATTLE FLUORS DEMPSEY BOUT HERE TONIGHT TO NEW YORK

By the process of elimination between the four runner-up teams in the late Santa Ana City Indoor Baseball league an opponent will be selected for the champion F. C. Blauer Grocers next week. The first contest in this elimination series will be played at Lincoln park tonight, the Fluor Construction company meeting the Excelsior Creamery company at 7:45 o'clock.

Lloyd Johnson, the sensational Whittier flinger who has been burning up Southern California league ranks again this summer, will be pitted against "Tex" Bergman, the local "raise ball" expert and a splendid pitcher's duel should result. Both are talented and shrewd submariners and their teammates have been giving them gilt-edged support during the past few weeks. Bergman has been nursing a sore arm for several days but he was reported in good condition today.

Johnson will have behind him his great Whittier catcher, Ted Rasmussen; Homer, the hard hitting first sacker and the full Fluor team which made a fast finish in the City League. The Excelsiors led the circuit in hitting. "Scotty" Scott, "Husky" Jackson, Ed Lee, "Beano" Golden and the other Milk-Dispensers are likely to give any pitcher, even Johnson, a hunt for a ball game.

Tomorrow night's joust will be offered by the Tiernan Typewriter company and Lee's Fountain. The winners of tonight's and tomorrow night's matches clash next Monday evening for the right to face the Blauers the following Wednesday, August 4.

Morgan Training For O'Brien Bout

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—Tod Morgan wasted no time in getting into training for his battle Wednesday, August 4, with Tommy O'Brien in the Olympic auditorium anniversary show feature. The titleholder has been campaigning around New York and he looks to be in fine condition.

O'Brien is resting up and probably won't go back to the gymnasium for a few days. He probably won't have to work hard to train down to the 135-pound limit, for the fight with Jack Spar last week has brought him down under the limit already.

STARK LEADING SWATSMITH OF INDOOR LEAGUE

Final and official averages for the complete season of the Santa Ana Indoor Baseball league today showed New Stark, O'Donnell Motors company backstop, to be the leading hitter. Stark clouted the ball for an average of .478 in seven games.

"Pea-Wee" Scott of the Excelsiors, Caryl Taylor of the O'Donnells and Carl Lacy of Lee's Fountain tied for second, all with marks of .400.

If an award were given for the most valuable player in the league, all things considered, it probably would go to Scott, who not only was a runner-up in hitting after playing in every contest of the year, but also scored the most runs, 14; made the most safe hits, 20; the most two-base hits, 7, and the next to most home runs, 3.

Snow of the Blauers was next to Scott in runs scored. He crossed home plate 13 times. Ed Daley of Lee's Fountain made the second highest number of hits, 19. Ted Rasmussen of the Fluors was second in doubles with five. "Buck" Flips of the Southern Counties Gas company led the three base hitters with four, being followed by Stark with three. Stark knocked the most homers, four.

TWO AMERICAN GIRLS READY FOR TRY AT CHANNEL SWIM, NINE ALREADY IN TRAINING

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CAP GRIS NEZ, France, July 27.—Channel swimming, heretofore a freak stunt, has become an animated race this year. The question of who can swim the channel is of little importance compared with the question of who will swim it first.

Nine starters have already appeared and at least half a dozen others are making feverish preparations to get here in time for the good weather, if any ever comes of the nine already on this or the English coast, four are women, including three Americans.

The four women, now in training are Miss Lillian Cannon of Baltimore, Miss Gertrude Ederle of New York, Mrs. Clementine Corson, wife of an American naval officer, and Madame Jane Sion of Dunkirk.

Mrs. Corson and Madame Sion have both endured over fourteen hours in the channel, Miss Ederle failed last year after eight hours, while Miss Cannon is a newcomer.

All these women are on edge for the stunt. Mrs. Corson, who now has two children, is full of confidence and wants to get the job over as quickly as possible. Madame Sion cannot devote all of her time to swimming, but thinks she has the best claim of women on the

GIANTS OPPOSE BUGS IN THREE GAMES AT N. Y.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 27.—Three important series, on which the championship may pivot, start today in the Eastern sector of the National League.

The champion Pittsburgh Pirates begin a three game series with the New York Giants, a club that Manager John J. McGraw insists is still a pennant possibility.

The Cincinnati Reds meet the Brooklyn Robins in a double header that will open a four game, three day series.

WHY DON'T AMERICANS VOTE?

That question is put to The Register by a correspondent, who then proceeds to discuss the question (and to suggest a doubtful remedy) without answering it.

Our answer is that the main reason why Americans do not vote is that real issues are not presented or determined at the polls. Nearly all issues have become nonpartisan or bipartisan. They are determined by blocs instead of parties, and you can't get them segregated on the ballot. People don't know who or what they are voting for. And this is due not alone to the confusion of issues, blocs and parties, but to the long and meaningless ballot, with its multiplicity of candidates and proposals, about the majority of whom and which the average voter knows nothing whatever. And so we have the condition which our correspondent describes as follows:

"It is perhaps seldom remembered that although the American people are quick to criticize their government machine, there are few people who are as negligent as they in the matter of franchise. In the national election of 1920 only about forty-nine per cent of eligible voters cast their ballots. Four years later there was an improvement of only two per cent in the national vote. This means, then, that only half of the citizens of this republic who are qualified to vote are enough interested in its affairs to go down to the polls and spend a few minutes in fulfilling the duty of a good citizen.

"It would be impossible to deny the fact that there are many faults in our national and local government. But he is best fitted to criticize who first tries to improve, and to ameliorate governmental conditions by electing the best men for public offices, and by voting for the best measures which come before the public for their approval or censure. It is often found that the man who is loudest in his criticism is the man who has not yet registered, and who does not take the trouble to vote.

"It might be well for the people of the United States to consider seriously the Australian plan of a compulsory voting law in case there is not more interest shown among the majority of voters in our coming election. Their plan has so far been highly satisfactory, and has succeeded in getting a high voting average in the last election."

GOOD MOVIE MOVE

If Will Hays keeps up the good work of making the movies better entitled to the patronage of right thinking people throughout the nation he will do well. It must be acknowledged that he is making progress along such lines. It is without a doubt his influence which has retired from the screen more than one star whose notoriety because of his private life did not appeal to the director of the moving picture world.

Mr. Hays has now induced the organization of producers and distributors to go on record as condemning everything in titles or pictures which may encourage the "slightest disregard for law," and in particular the prohibition law. "So great is the responsibility of pictures," said Mr. Hays, "that they must not in the slightest degree lend themselves to bringing the law into disrespect."

Surely the movies have a great responsibility because of the universality of their influence, and it is fortunate that there is at their head a man who believes that all laws must be respected, and that one of the first and best ways to insure respect and obedience is by cultivating the right attitude toward law. It would be extremely fortunate if some of Mr. Hays' ideas were shared by many of the publishers and editors of today, particularly those editors of some of the comic magazines, who seem to think the prohibition law passed solely for the purpose of providing a butt for their dull witticisms.

GOOD TURKISH EXAMPLE

There is a building boom in Angora, the new capital of Turkey.

That mud town, which formerly housed 10,000 people very poorly, and will soon house 100,000 well, is being transformed. More than 150 brick and stone dwellings have been built in the last six months. A new postoffice and parliament building of stone and concrete have been completed. Numerous other public buildings are going up, including a national museum, a good hotel and an opera house. Streets have been paved and the malaria-infested swamps outside the city have been drained and planted with trees.

Thus Mustapha Kemal continues transforming Turkey, and the "unspeakable Turk" sets an example to other nations.

THE PERFECT WAITER

A German waiter, it is reported, is not considered fully trained and competent until he has learned to fold a table napkin in 37 different ways. There is a waiters' school in Berlin where these and other essentials are taught.

That may be all right in Germany. Perhaps German restaurant patrons want their napkins folded in 37 different ways. Americans generally would look for other qualities in the perfect waiter.

As for the numerous college boys who pay for their education by waiting tables—well, we'd like to see anyone interest them in the fine art of napkin-folding.

FRONON STUDENT AUTOS

Should a student have a car? The controversy rages more than ever.

The state universities of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin have decided that the automobile cannot be banished from college because it is a necessary means of conveyance.

Meanwhile two Indiana institutions, Purdue and the state university, have forbidden student use of motor cars just as some eastern colleges have done. And now the University of Illinois follows their example, with a stronger arraignment of the college automobile than has appeared yet.

Student ownership of automobiles, the college authorities say, has a direct relationship to their school standing. The student motorists are the poorest students, and the more use they make of their cars, the poorer students they become. It's a question of cars or education.

More particularly: The possession of a car, they say, tends to result in a constant and serious waste of the student's time; it leads to numerous accidents; it encourages violations of the traffic laws by the students; it seriously congests traffic near the campus; and it leads to dissipation.

Creeps to Disarmament

San Francisco Chronicle

The disarmament movement sponsored by the League of Nations and supported by the United States does not appear to be making much headway. It is too early, of course, to say that the discussions will come to nothing or that there is no real desire among many of the nations to lessen the burden of armament. But we do know that every proposition advanced by America's representatives comes in for rough sledding and is invariably voted down by the committee of military and naval experts.

Europe has a set of problems that happily have no force or bearing in America. They grow out of ancient rivalries and bitter enmities and are kept alive by fear. What the countries of Europe want first is security, and the formula has been arbitration, security, disarmament. At Locarno hope rose high that the first step was being taken when victor and vanquished sat down at the council table to forget old grievances and to plan for mutual security. The foundation of a new era of co-operation and good-will in Europe seemed to have been laid. But the controversy that arose in March over the admission of Germany to the Council of the League not only prevented the treaties negotiated at Locarno from going into effect, but ushered in a whole new train of international difficulties.

Europe is not so sure of its ground, and its statesmen do not appear to be so anxious for disarmament as they were in the first flush of optimism over what had been accomplished at Locarno. Here and there it is evident that somebody is trying to throw a monkey wrench into the machinery of the Geneva conference.

Whether this situation will clear in September, when Germany is expected to take a place on the League council, we must wait to learn.

In the meantime, the disposition of the delegates of the United States is to hang on and fight for a definite program of arms retrenchment. Disarmament is an American policy, but the burden of heavy armament weighs heaviest on the nations of Europe. If the preparatory conference comes to nothing, the failure cannot be laid to an unwillingness on the part of the United States to help.

Thirty Killed Daily

Railroads Facts

Thirty persons are killed daily on railroad grade crossings in the United States. Like most accidents, these could be avoided. A railroad train can only come on its tracks and in one of two directions. A stop and a look make accidents impossible. Mounting crossing accidents are a case where the remedy is plain but the cure seemingly unattainable.

Since so many refuse to "cross crossings cautiously" there must be some reason. Surely mankind values life highly. The reason must be that man more highly than his life. Or is it an eternally springing hope that convinces every human that harm cannot come to him? And those who harbor such hopes are said to be reasoning animals.

A year ago the railroads conducted a campaign for fewer crossing accidents. The results were not encouraging although they presented the hope that education in time might accomplish much. It will require a campaign of education conducted over the entire nation for a long time to bring about anywhere near the desired result.

There is only one sure cure for crossing accidents and that is the elimination of grade crossings. The railroads and the government realize this and are working toward that end. Billions of dollars are involved and years will be consumed in the achievement.

Editorial Shorts

Seven years before the signing of the Declaration of Independence at Philadelphia, the Spanish civilization of old California had its birth in this city of ours. Today a great exposition in Philadelphia celebrates the 150th anniversary of American independence; and on Presidio Hill, San Diego, the Serra cross keeps vigil over the spot where California began. Father Serra formally established the Mission of San Diego de Alcalá on July 16, 1769—157 years ago today. Yet the city that grew from a settlement about that lonely mission seems to have grown too great to remember its own birthday. San Diego is 157 years old today—San Diego Union.

There is probably no more firmly set prejudice revealed than by the person who remarks when advancing an opinion: "No one but the most prejudiced sort of person could possibly have any other idea than this—"Palo Alto Times.

The word "opposition" is misused generally round about campaign time. Would not "competition" be more appropriate, and truer?—Livingston Chronicle. President Wilson of Stanford University in a recent address advocated the enlargement of the junior college system as a means of meeting the "challenge for a change, the revolt against prejudice, dogmas and fears." Students coming from the junior colleges, he said, have formed a larger percentage of honor students at Stanford than those who have taken their entire four years' work at the university.—Riverside Press.

DISEASE MAY LACK PAIN

The degree of pain experienced does not indicate the extent of the bodily injury or derangement from which one may be suffering.

There are many dangerous conditions in which pain is either entirely absent or present to such an insignificant extent as to be entirely misleading.

Thus, there are sometimes lightning-attacks of appendicitis devoid of pain, increased temperature or elevated pulse rate, though this is not the rule. Tuberculosis is frequently without pain. The pain signal may be lacking in a very malignant case of diphtheria.

The internal organs such as the stomach, heart and kidneys are poorly equipped for conveying pain signals. Therefore, in serious derangements of these organs pain is often lacking.

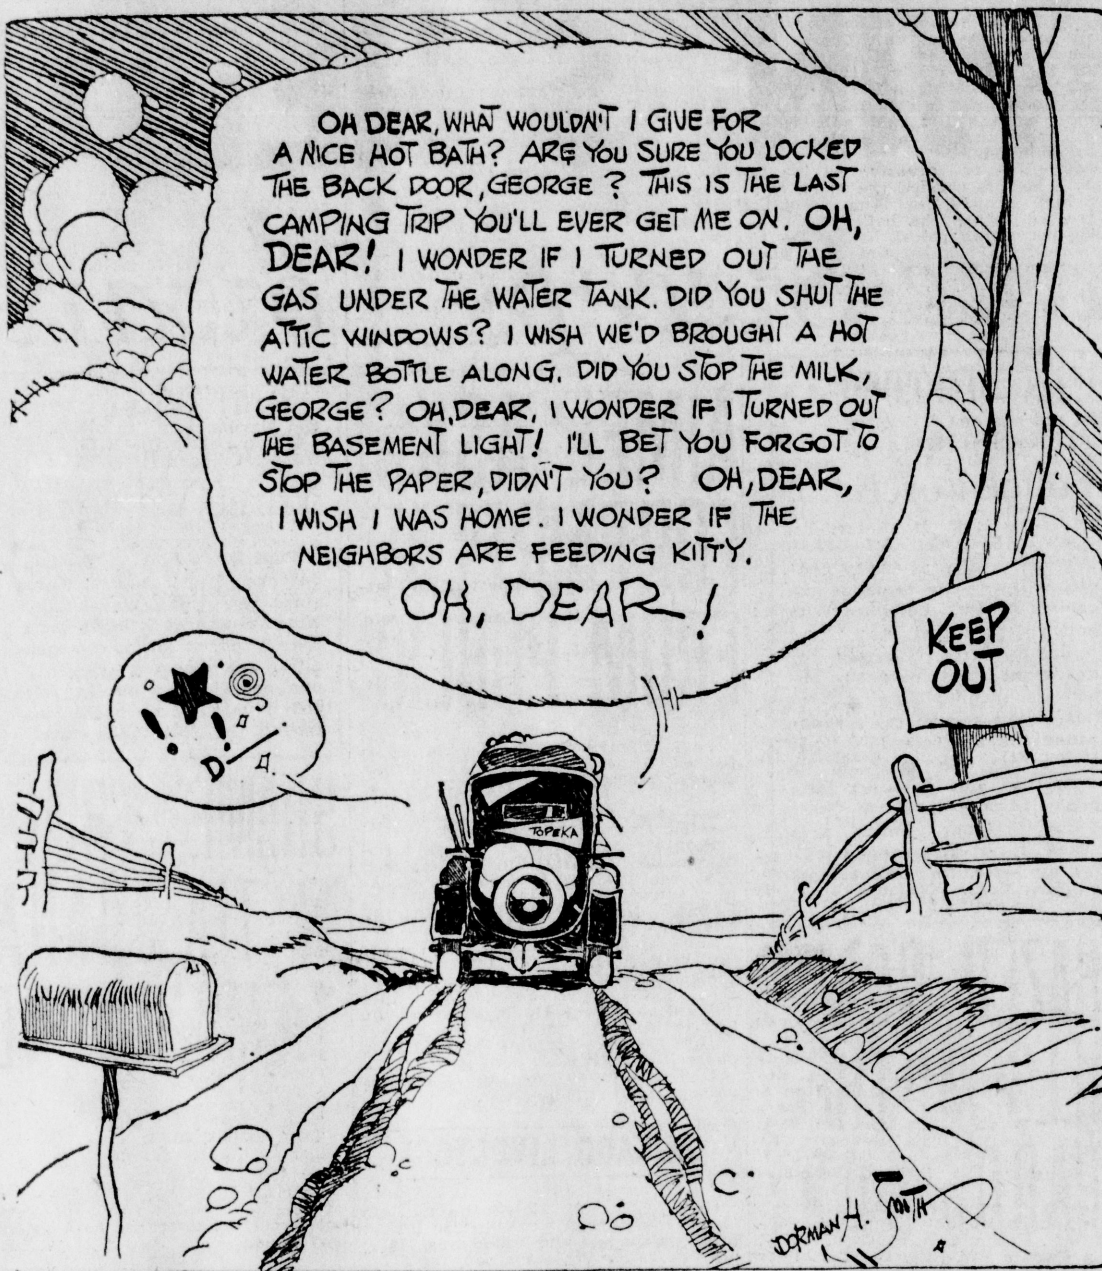

Thus it will be seen that pain, while valuable as a signal when it is present, may be entirely lacking in some very serious ailments. However, it should be remembered that many diseases begin with pain or have pain as a prominent symptom at some time during their course.

Pain is often borne patiently in the hope of early amelioration. Instead of heeding the danger signal and seeking relief at the hands of a competent physician, the individual continues to suffer.

In the meantime, the disease, comparable to a slow-burning fire, makes headway and becomes more difficult to treat successfully. Then too, many confuse pain with disease, thinking that they are well as soon as pain is relieved. This, however, may be a dangerous fallacy, especially since it is known that some of the more serious diseases are not accompanied by pain.

Pain is a device of nature which serves as a signal or warning of a condition requiring attention. A periodical physical examination is an efficient means of discovering the presence of those diseases which are not heralded by pain.

Two Weeks of Pleasure

Neglecting Prosperity

Riverside Press

While California has a registration this year of about 1,500,000 automobiles, being second only to New York, she is 14th in the matter of mileage of surfaced roads. To be sure a larger percentage of surfaced roads are paved instead of graveled, yet she needs much more mileage of highways that are easy and safe to travel and which invite to motoring. The great mileage over the state and county highways and the large sums spent everywhere by motorists is the greatest single factor in the prosperity of the state. The automobilist is California's most profitable crop.

With this fact established, it is not to our credit for either business sense or state pride, that while as low as fourteenth in the matter of surfaced mileage, while second in the number of machines, we were in 1925 behind 21 other states in the mileage of new pavement. That is not keeping up the pace. Other states with more miles of surfaced roads than we had at the beginning of last year added still more than we did to their total. That placed them still further in the lead. Were it not for our big slice of the federal funds for road building, we would have made even a worse showing last year, and a still worse one this year.

Not only does our climate assure and invite a large mileage of our own machines all the year round, but it draws machines from every state in the Union, with more mileage than such machines give to other states. This is tremendously profitable business. It stimulates prosperity all over the state. More paved mileage, especially on the routes of travel entering the state, where local traffic is not large, would draw still greater numbers of machines from other states and a still larger sum of money to be spent in every city and town along the highways. Paving the main routes of travel and improving all the others is a plain business investment, which is sure to yield a large prosperity dividend. This prosperity is not enjoyed alone by the communities through which the new pavements run, but is shared by those who have been "sitting pretty" along a paved highway for a long time. There cannot be a single mile of paved road built anywhere in California without benefiting every section of the state.

Worth While Verse

SAILOR'S SON

Heart of my heart, as I sit by the fire,
Where a little lad laughs and the candles gleam,
There comes the murmur of distant waters,
And the rushing of wings where the gray gulls scream.

Weary I turn from the fragrant furrow
At the bitter end of each bitter day!
Heart of my heart, in the crackling fire
I am seeing tall ships and the salt sea spray.

Heart of my heart, I shall be going Over the hill in the dark of the moon;
With our lad on your breast you will be weeping
And praying to God that I come back soon.

But the sea that calls me is worse than cruel,
And my heart will break for what I have done;
Heart of my heart, hug our lad to your bosom—
He, too, is the son of a sailor's son.

—Edgar Daniel Kramer in the New York Times.

All rite, let it be off, wat do I care? I sed. Wich jest then 2 dogs belonging to 2 lads smelt each others noses and then started to fite like anything, me injoying it but Shorty just partly injoying it on account of jest having called the bet off and losing a chance to win a cent.

Challenges Other Candidates

McClellan claims to be the only gubernatorial candidate who has announced a definite platform upon which he is seeking the gubernatorial nomination. It is not just a challenge.

California Politics

Agriculturists for Young

Of course much of the "copy" that comes to newspapers from the publicity bureaus or headquarters of candidates must be taken with a grain or two of salt; but the following from the "Young-for-Governor" club of Los Angeles, is so straightforward and so specific and withal so simple in its elements—that its truth cannot be doubted:

Pomona Valley, one of the richest citrus and walnut sections in all California, until this week considered a stronghold of support for Governor Richardson, apparently has become "Young territory," according to a canvas just completed of the eastern portion of Los Angeles county.

Recognition of the vital importance of the Boulder Dam and All-American Canal project and general dissatisfaction concerning treatment given agricultural measures by the Richardson administration, are declared to be responsible for the overwhelming turnover of public opinion.

Following are some expressions made public this week by leaders from this important section:

T. Roe Hobbs, manager San Dimas Lemon Growers' association: "I am absolutely for Young for Governor and will do everything I can to bring about his election. Colorado River development is one of the most important problems before Southern California. San Dimas and Pomona Valley are gravely concerned and our interests demand the election of a Governor who will do everything within his power to get the earliest possible action by Congress."

Thomas H. Lambert of El Monte, president of Los Angeles County Farm Bureau: "I cannot understand how any agriculturist can vote for Richardson. He has ignored our interests, vetoed our bills and insulted our representatives. He is the exact opposite of the man we want in the governor's chair. Lieutenant Governor Young is a man who will give a fair hearing and fair treatment to us and to every other interest, and he understands the needs of the country. I intend to do everything I can to help elect Young."

E. M. Wheeler, manager San Dimas Orange Growers' association: "I am supporting Young. He has a long and good record in his work at Sacramento, one of consistent standing for the development of California. He has been outspoken in his advocacy of a high dam at Boulder Canyon, to be built by the Federal government; the All-American Canal, and the Metropolitan Water District bill. Pomona Valley is deeply interested in those projects."

W. A. Johnstone, president First National Bank of San Dimas and well known citrus grower: "I am for Young because he has a real and definite understanding of the problems of agriculturists, particularly of the citrus growers."

"Agriculturists throughout the state are in favor of a change because of the very unsatisfactory treatment of them and their interests by Richardson. Pocket vetoes of our bills, indifference to forest fires, and the insulting treatment he gave to a large delegation of prominent agriculturists who went to Sacramento during the hoof and mouth disease are matters which we have not forgotten."
